Cargoes Flow At B.C. Docks

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver waterfront and five other British Columbia ports were back to normal today after a tie-up that began here Aug. 7 and spread to other ports Aug. 28.

More than 3,000 longshoremen were on the job today after federal legislation was passed by Parliament Friday ordering the men back to work.

Only regular maintenance work was performed at the docks over the holiday weekend.

There were 46 vessels in Vancouver Harbor Monday, many of them waiting to be loaded with grain. An estimated 30 million bushels of grain has accumulated since the 1,800 Vancouver longshoremen walked off the docks in a hiring hall dispute Aug. 7.

An official strike Aug. 28 took another 1,400 men off B.C. coastal ports. The union has demanded a master contract for an increase of 50 cents an hour on rates ranging from $5.05 to $5.30 along with increased fringe benefits. The employers' position has not been made public.

Longshore workers are guaranteed by the federal legislation that any negotiated settlement will be retroactive to Aug. 1, when the last contract expired.

The legislation will remain in effect until a settlement is reached or until Dec. 31, whichever comes first.

Officials estimate it could take until early winter to catch up on grain shipments. One grain official said the closure of Vancouver's docks has resulted in the loss of three weeks sales.

Ed Strang, B.C. Maritime Employers' Association president, said today he is hopeful negotiations will commence with the union sometime this week.

Don Garcia, Canadian-area president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, was not available for comment.

McGovern Claims Full Revival After Big Welcome In Seattle

SIATLE (AP) — Senator George McGovern, proclaiming his spirit revived and his hopes high after a boisterous welcome to the Pacific northwest, called today for federal help to create 25,000 new jobs at the Boeing Co. by providing cleaner and quieter engines for commercial jets.

McGovern said the new program could be financed from only "a small share" of $9 billion in recently granted corporate tax relief.

"The cleaner engine would also improve the environment," the Democratic presidential nominee said in remarks prepared for a visit to a food distribution warehouse set up to feed unemployed persons here, many from Boeing.

More than 5,000 cheering supporters greeted Mr. McGovern outside his downtown Seattle hotel Monday night after his arrival from enthusiastic receptions at Labor Day rallies and picnics in Ohio and California.

"My spirit is revived, my hopes are high," McGovern told the predominantly youthful crowds.

As in his other speeches earlier Monday, the crowd especially cheered McGovern's increasingly aggressive attacks on President Nixon.

The South Dakota senator charged the White House is full of high paid public relations men hired by the administration to manipulate the people.

At every stop McGovern fit into Nixon's Labor Day statement that the Nov. 7 election pits advocates of a "welfare state," represented by McGovern, with advocates of a "work ethic" such as himself.

"Mr. Nixon is for the work ethic on Labor Day but he's for unemployment the rest of the year," the Democratic nominee told a crowd of 2,000 at a labor-sponsored fair at Pleasanton, outside Oakland.

Air Canada And Wardair Study Co-Ordination Of Activities

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada said today it is holding discussions with Wardair of Edmonton to find the best method in which the two companies can co-ordinate some of their activities.

Air Canada said in a statement that no agreement has been reached so far and the discussions are still going on.

It is expected that a statement on the outcome of these conversations will be made shortly.

Air Canada said it issued the statement in response to queries from the news media regarding relations between the two airlines.

The company said:

"For some time there have been discussions with Max Ward, president of Wardair, as to the best method for Air Canada and Wardair to co-ordinate some of their activities.

"In the course of these discussions the possibility of Mr. Ward selling some of his shares in Wardair to Air Canada was discussed. However, no agreement has been reached as yet."

Wardair is engaged entirely in charter flight operations.

Half A Flight Not Good Enough

TORONTO (CP) — About 30 passengers were removed from a Donaldson International Airways flight to London here Monday because they had not been on the first half of the flight last month.

The travellers said they had bought their tickets from a local charter travel agency.

They were the first to be caught in a crackdown by the Canadian transport commission against violations of charter flight rules.

CTC chief inspector A. D. Pearce said the passengers, who paid $89 for the one-way flight, were not eligible to

Holiday Accident Toll At 121 — B.C. Reports 13 Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two head-on car crashes in Ontario, each claiming four lives, marked a three-day holiday marred with the death of at least 121 persons across Canada, tying it with the third-worst Labor Day weekend on record.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed that between 6 p.m. local times Friday night and midnight Monday night 95 people died on the highways, another 15 in drownings, seven in fires and four by miscellaneous accidents.

The Canada Safety Council had predicted 85 deaths on the highways for the summer-closing holiday.

It was particularly grim in Ontario, where four died in a Hamilton crash Monday night and another four Friday night at Renfrew, about 50 miles west of Ottawa, for a total of 35 traffic deaths.

At least 42 died in traffic in the province, four others in fires and three others drowned. The highway toll tied the mark set in 1962 and was exceeded only by the 46 in 1963.

In all Canada the fatalities total was tied by the 121 set in 1963 and was only a few down from the 124 in 1965 and the 126 in 1966.

At least thirteen persons died in accidents in British Columbia during the Labor Day weekend. Traffic accidents claimed six lives, three died in fires and four drowned.

Three men drowned early Sunday morning in Takla Lake, 95 miles north of Fort St. James in central B.C. Their 17-foot boat struck a rock wall, RCMP identified two of them as Robert Miller, 36, and Garry Reisterer, 22, both of Fort St. John. Name of third man was withheld.

The fourth person to drown was Arthur Stevenson, 13, of Langville, a community 10 miles north of Nanaimo on Vancouver Island. He was playing on a raft when he fell off.

A single-car crash on Sunday killed three persons, Lloyd Arthur Aubichon, 17, John James Small, 17, and Arthur Henry Thiesen, 18, all of Prince George. The accident occurred on the Blackwater road 12 miles southwest of Prince George.

A West Vancouver couple, Wayne McMillan, 30, and his wife Susan, 31, died in a house fire early Sunday morning. A passing motorist saved the lives of their two small children when he broke down the front door.

Another house fire on Monday in Vancouver killed a baby boy, four-month-old Kim Stevens Chateaufort.

Three persons died in separate traffic accidents.

On Friday, Quibel J. Carver, 54, of White Rock, was killed when a transport truck in which he was a passenger flipped over on the Trans-Canada highway about 30 miles west of Kamloops. The truck driver served to miss another accident.

A single-car accident near Rossland in the East Kootenay killed Kenneth Duncan McLean of Trail on Sunday.

In Richmond, south of Vancouver, an unidentified young man died Sunday when a car left the road and plunged into a ditch. His name was withheld.

TWO FATALITY-FREE

In Quebec, 28 people were killed, including 26 on the highways and two by drowning.

The survey does not include known suicides, industrial accidents or slayings or the 37 who died in a nightclub explosion in Montreal.

Nine people died in Nova Scotia, six in traffic accidents, two by drowning and a man hit by a train.

New Brunswick had seven deaths, five in traffic and two drownings.

Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland recorded fatality-free weekends.

There was one accidental death in Manitoba, a drowning.

Israelis Held Hostage After Terrorists Slay 2

MUNICH (CP) — Arab commandos seized the Israeli Olympic team quarters today, killed one or two men, held others hostage and brought the 20th Summer Olympic Games to an unprecedented halt. West German police said they were prepared to go in shooting.

Israeli wrestling coach Moshe Weinberg was shot dead when the terrorists, armed with sub-machine-guns, climbed the Olympic Village fence in the dark before dawn and burst into the Israelis' apartment.

The Bavarian interior ministry first announced that a second man also had been killed but his body could not be recovered.

A spokesman of the organizing committee said later in the day:

"All we can confirm now is that one man has been killed and his body recovered. If there is a second body in the house we won't know it for sure until police are able to enter it."

Everybody agreed that one hostage was known to be at least seriously wounded.

A 5 p.m.-noon EDT—police deadline for surrender or shoot-out apparently passed without action on either side.

FINISH SOME EVENTS

Olympic officials, in announcing a suspension of the Games for at least a day or perhaps longer, allowed completion of several competitions that already had started when the commandos attacked.

At the end of Monday's program 124 of the 195 events on the program had been completed.

Except for two world wars, the modern Olympics have taken place every four years without interruption since they started in 1896.

The terrorists burst into the Israelis' apartment in pre-dawn darkness.

Some Israelis escaped but between nine and 13—the figures varied in conflicting official reports—were held hostage.

The Arabs—five men with charcoal-blackened faces—announced that the rest of the Israelis would be shot if 200 Arab terrorists held in Israel were not released by noon.

EXTEND DEADLINE

The terrorists had twice extended the original deadline of noon—7 a.m. EDT.

As each deadline approached, West German police, armed with sub-machine-guns and wearing bullet-proof vests and armored face protectors, got ready for a showdown.

A police spokesman said a squad of 38 volunteers would storm the house if a deal had not been working out with the Arabs by the deadline.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt flew into Munich to take command.

Competition started in at least seven sports today but it was an off-day in the big track and field program.

But as the fateful hour approached they were stopped. A joint statement by Avery Brundage of the United States, president of the International Olympic Committee, and Willi Daume, West German chairman of the organizing committee, said there would be no more games for the rest of the day.

Egyptian Team Heads For Home

The Egyptian basketball team forfeited a game "because of the events of the day" and sources said the entire Egyptian Olympic team was heading home.

Mark Spitz, the American wonder swimmer who won a record seven gold medals, flew home. Spitz, a Jew, was moved by officials out of the village to a Munich hotel as a safety precaution, but later decided to get right out of it.

By mid-afternoon two tanks were stationed outside the house in the village where the Israelis were held captive. More than 100 police ringed the building. At least one police car filled with guns was driven through the village gates.

Officials announced a memorial service for the dead Israelis would be held in Olympic Stadium Wednesday morning. It was believed the Games would not be resumed until after that, and much appeared to depend on the outcome of the siege.

Israelis who escaped from the house said the terrorists knocked on coach Weinberg's door at 4:30 a.m. They barged into his room, which he shared with five other coaches, and shot him down when he tried to stop them.

ALLOWED TO LEAVE

The teams of Uruguay and Hong Kong are quartered in the same three-storey house. They, too, were held by the terrorists at first but were later allowed to leave.

The Arabs demanded that planes be made ready at Munich airport to fly them and the Israeli hostages to an Arab capital. One report said they threatened to kill one Israeli every two hours if their demands were not met.

Diplomats of Israel and the Arab League flew to Munich from Bonn.

Officials bargained with the terrorists, offering them unlimited money and a safe conduct if they would surrender. But the Arabs stuck to their demands.

Television cameras were trained on the house all day. Millions of West Germans watched on their screens, waiting for a possible gun battle.

Rock Fans Cop Out

BULL ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Thousands of tired and disillusioned rock music fans deserted this scarred peninsula early today.

The last band at the Labor Day weekend Soda Pop Festival packed its equipment shortly after midnight Monday.

Between 25,000 and 35,000 fans remained at that point, still waiting for performances by groups that never appeared.

Police estimated nearly 300,000 persons flocked to the 900-acre island in the Wabash River between Indiana and Illinois for the three-day celebration. Promoters said they had expected no more than 75,000.

The homeward trek caused a mammoth traffic jam.

At least 50 persons were arrested on alcohol and drug charges.

The top attractions, Joe Cocker and Black Sabbath, refused after demanding more money. Two other featured rock groups, The Doors and Faces, failed to perform.

Eight Children Found Alive

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Searchers found today eight children missing since Monday afternoon in the Coxheath Mountain area about five miles from here.

An RCMP spokesman said the children were in good condition but wet after a damp night in the woods.

'Disillusioned' Grit Wagner Joins PCs

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Claude Wagner resigned today and announced he will run for the Progressive Conservatives in the Oct. 30 federal election but a decision on which riding he will contest has not been made. Mr. Wagner said his switch to the Progressive Conservatives followed his "growing disillusionment" with the government of Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

'Merged' Freighters Towed To Calm Waters Off B.C. Coast

VICTORIA (CP) — The Canadian tug Sudbury II was towing two freighters locked together in collision to calmer waters near here, a spokesman for the tug's owners, Seaplan International Co., said early today.

He said cutting torches probably would be used to separate the 12,300-ton C. E. Dant and the 9,000-ton Aegean Sea sometime today. The C. E. Dant's bow was buried deep in the port side of the Aegean Sea's bow.

The ships collided in Canadian waters, about 30 miles southwest of Victoria, but had drifted into American waters by late Monday.

There were no injuries in the collision.

The C. E. Dant, owned by States Steamships of San Francisco, was enroute to Portland from Seattle at the time, carrying manufactured goods. The Aegean Sea, of Liberian registry, was in ballast, heading to Vancouver from Hong Kong for a cargo of grain.

Damage estimates were not available, but damage appeared heavier to the Aegean Sea, whose No. 2 port hold was penetrated by the bow of the American freighter.

A coast guard spokesman said it might be necessary to beach the vessels before they could be separated.

The spokesman said visibility was about one-half to three-quarters of a mile when the collision occurred before dawn Monday, with the sea described as moderate. The strait is 12 miles wide where the collision occurred.

Crews of both ships remained on board their vessels Monday night. Canadian and U.S. tugs stood by. Both freighters took on water but were reported in no danger of sinking.

Barrett Home After 'Musing'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier-elect Dave Barrett was back home in Coquitlam Monday night after a weekend spent in Seattle musing over possible cabinet selections and the priorities of his New Democratic Party government.

He was not available for comment, however. Bob Williams, the NDP M.L.A. for Vancouver East and one of 38 NDP candidates swept in to office last Wednesday, said Mr. Barrett was expected to spend today in private meetings.

Rebel Marie Shakes IRA Command

Miniskirted Marie McGuire, 24, sent a tremor through the tough Irish Republican Army Provisional wing with her bitter denunciations of the military command, but British security men in London doubt that her impact will have any major effect on the command leader. The fact that the former IRA gun-runner had to seek a British hideaway before she heaved a publicity brick at IRA military chief John Steenhuis, alias Sean MacStiofain, may indicate she has more to fear from her compatriots than the unbending MacStiofain who still directs the battle against the British from his Dublin headquarters.

Ontario Justice Secretary Alan Lawrence announced Monday in Toronto he has called a Tuesday "emergency" meeting of law enforcement officials to discuss growing violence in Metro Toronto's construction industry. Mr. Lawrence and Solicitor-General John Yaremko have cancelled a trip to Northern Ontario with other legislative members to meet with the Ontario Police Commission and the Metro Toronto Police Commission.

old daughter with a car so he could collect $70,000 in insurance, police reported Monday in Aomori, Japan. They said Mitsuru Murata, 38, confessed he had hired Keiji Sugita, 25, and Noriaki Yoneda, 20, for $5,000 each to kill his daughter Wakako in what was to appear to be a hit-and-run accident. The child was hit from behind and killed while walking with her father and her seven-year-old sister.

Okanagan County authorities continued their search for the body of a Renton skydiver who apparently drowned when he and two other divers missed their jump zone and landed in the river as hundreds of spectators looked on near Brewster, Wash. Killed outright Sunday was Craig Johnson, 25, of Seattle. Injured and hospitalized in shock but later released was Steve Lightfoot, 20, of Seattle.

Edith Irving, charged with a $550,000 fraud in her writer husband's Howard Hughes autobiography hoax, entered Zurich jail Monday as Swiss authorities began what appeared to be lengthy judicial proceedings against her. After a tearful separation from her two boys, two and four, she was formally taken into custody.

Icelandic fishermen threatened Monday to take the law into their own hands against British trawlers unless they move out of Iceland's new 50-mile fishing limit. The warning was issued by fishermen on the northwest coast, a traditional hunting ground for vessels from Britain. A leading Icelandic fishing skipper, Olafur Olafsson, said that before the new limits came into force last Friday British trawlers used to keep out of the way of local craft—which usually fish with long trailing lines carrying thousands of hooks.

A major evolution in collective bargaining could come about through use of voluntary binding arbitration, Martin O'Connell, federal labor minister, said Monday in Toronto. Mr. O'Connell said he believes labor and management "are turning increasingly in this direction as the adverse effects of prolonged strike action become more apparent and burdensome on all."

Transportation Secretary John Volpe of the United States called on all nations Monday to unite in blocking aerial hijackings, saying such piracy threatened the future of air commerce. Volpe said in Washington, "Piracy on the high seas came to an end when the ports of call were closed to plunderers of ships. Piracy in the skies will die the same death when the doors of welcome are universally slammed on hijackers around the world."

Expansion Minister Jean Marchand said in Quebec Monday he will be a candidate in the Quebec City riding of Langelier in the Oct. 30 federal election. The minister also told reporters that Jean-Charles Cantin, Liberal MP for Louis-Hébert, will not run in the election. Mr. Marchand has represented Langelier since 1965. Mr. Cantin has been in the Commons since the 1962 general election.

Quebec Progressive Conservatives have scheduled an "important" news conference in Montreal today, launching a new speculation that Judge Claude Wagner, a former Liberal provincial justice minister, is about to announce his decision to run federally for the PCs.

Divers have recovered the body of a Cranbrook girl who drowned Sunday in the Spokane River while on an outing with her family of 12, authorities said. Police identified the girl as Nancy Kennedy, five, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Kennedy. The girl, one of 10 children in the family, apparently wandered away from a picnic site at Riverside State Park and slipped into the river, authorities said.

Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky got good news Monday. They are getting the $125,000 prize money British financier James D. Slater is putting up in any currency they want. Slater announced Monday that the Bank of England has granted permission to export the $50,000 he offered when Fischer was balking at starting the world chess championship match in Iceland.

Laurier Denis Boutin, 31, alias Joseph Colombo Jr., was arrested by Montreal police on five-year-old warrants charging him with fraud and auto theft and will appear in court today, police said Monday. Police said Boutin, accompanied by his fiancée, a former Winnipeg hospital clerk, was arrested on a warrant dating back to 1968.

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — The federal government will spend more than $1 million for environmental research in the Arctic in 1972-73 as part of its water and land management responsibilities. Protestant Mob Attacks Police Post In Belfast BELFAST (AP) — A Protestant mob hurling sticks and bottles attacked a Belfast police post early today and a powerful bomb damaged the headquarters of Northern Ireland's main Roman Catholic opposition party.

Security forces also reported two men were shot and wounded in the capital and a tavern blown up in a new upsurge of Protestant militancy.

The extremist Protestant Ulster Defence Association only hours earlier said it had broken off contact with the British Army because of military harassment.

The subsequent violence was seen as muscle-flexing by Northern Ireland's Protestant majority.

At the same time, there were continuing reports of a shakeup in the Belfast command of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing and speculation the guerrillas will end their bomb attacks on civilian targets.

The Protestant mob of 80 men and youths attacked the police post in East Belfast shortly after midnight and tried to batter down the main door. Police inside fired two shots and the attackers left. There were no casualties.

The men smashed windows in nearby buildings as they ran off and roamed surrounding streets in military-style formation for more than an hour afterward.

In downtown Belfast, a bomb left in a car exploded outside the headquarters of the Social Democratic and Labor Party, blowing out windows and damaging the front of the building.

The two men found shot were gunned down in the city's Antrim Road and taken to hospital. Their condition was not known.

MAKES THREAT
The UDA, which claims it can muster 43,000 trained men, now has threatened to resume parading publicly in masks and dark glasses, the uniform banned last month by Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw.

The organization's relations with the security forces have deteriorated sharply since the IRA sneaked through a security cordon and bombed a tavern in Protestant heartland of Belfast.

Meanwhile in Dublin, two leading Provisionals, alleged by guerrilla defector Maria McGuire to have plotted the removal of the organization's chief of staff, Sean MacStiofain, denied the charges.

The men, Ruairi O'Bradaigh and David O'Connell, described Miss McGuire's disclosures in a British newspaper during the weekend as nonsense.

They denied there was a crisis in the leadership of the Provisionals as a result of MacStiofain's bombing tactics in the North.

Reports persisted, however, that the top Provisional in Belfast, Sean Twomey, was being replaced to pave the way for a switch in guerrilla tactics from the bombings which "have claimed scores of civilian lives."

The Provisionals will concentrate on their shooting war with the British Army, the reports say.

Yacht Club Problem Set For Discussion

Kelowna city council was expected to decide tonight whether the Kelowna Yacht Club will have continuing occupancy of its Water Street clubhouse or if the club should seek another site.

Council set tonight as a deadline for the club to present its final arguments in the 19-month-old lease dispute with the city. Lawyers for the club had promised council that a complete resume outlining the club's position will be in the hands of aldermen tonight.

At the last meeting of city council Aug. 21, aldermen made it clear there would be no more delays in a decision in the case after tonight. The Yacht Club has already made it known that it rejects totally the proposed city lease which would up the rent by 2,000 per cent.

Until the previous lease expired in February 1972 the Yacht Club had been paying the city $1 per year in rent and only minimal taxes. Under terms in a proposed lease drawn up by a committee of aldermen the club would be responsible for full taxes on the city owned property and pay rent amounting to $2,000 a year.

Yacht Club executive members contend the club's 20-year relationship with the city was underlined by a mutual agreement which would see the club free from rent and city taxes. Present city council members have been consistent in rejecting any such suggestions as being valid.

The club at one point enlisted the support of several former council members who were part of the city's lease signing team in 1951. These former city representatives have backed up the club's claim of staying on the Water Street property pro gratis.

The brief which will be presented to council tonight is expected to contain the legal backbone to the Yacht Club's contention that it owns the building and improvements to the Water Street property.

The city has been adamant in its opinion that the property, buildings and all improvements are under the sole ownership of the city.

Executive members of the club have said in earlier statements they do not dispute city ownership of the property but do discount any city claim to the added extras paid for by the club during the 21 years it has operated from the site.

Kelowna mayor Hilbert Roth, who has played an important part in the continuing negotiations will be present at tonight's meeting.

The council committee in charge of the club lease was headed by aldermen Syd Hodge and Richard Stewart. Both of these aldermen have expressed determination in keeping the controversial subject in the open and away from the backrooms of council.

However it was Alderman Hodge who moved on Aug. 7 to meet with Yacht Club executive behind closed doors.

The meeting tonight marks the 19th month the Yacht Club have occupied the Water Street clubhouse without the lease.

McIver Off And Running

With a federal election slated for Oct. 30, Liberal Bruce Howard is set to defend his seat as MP for Okanagan-Boundary against an as yet unnamed Conservative candidate and New Democratic Party hopeful Bryan McIver.

Although NDP supporters have barely had time to catch their breaths after last week's victory in the B.C. election, Mr. McIver has already climbed aboard the campaign bandwagon.

He said today, winning last Wednesday's provincial election "opened the way for great gains by the New Democrats in the federal election."

"The New Democrats are the only alternative, the only road for real change," he said, adding that the other three major parties, "are all chips off the old block."

"In Manitoba," he claimed, " Tories and Liberals are discussing coalition to defeat the NDP—the same policy used in B.C. 20 years ago to keep the CCF out of office. Having nothing of significance to offer themselves, the forces of reaction in Canada unite in an attempt to keep the NDP from acting."

At a meeting of the NDP campaign committee Sunday in Okanagan Mission, Monica Davis of Summerland was named campaign chairman, and Frank Snowball, of Kelowna, second-place finisher against former Social Credit premier W. A. C. Bennett in last week's provincial election, was named publicity chairman.

Secretary-Manager Appointed By Okanagan Parks Society

Derek Arnold, of Kelowna, has been appointed the first secretary-manager of the Okanagan Similkameen Parks Society.

A spokesman for the group said success by the OSPS in its various projects and an increase in correspondence made the hiring of a secretary-manager necessary.

Mr. Arnold, a resident of Kelowna for ten years, starts work this month. He has worked with the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, is presently acting-chairman of the Kelowna branch of SPEC and is on the national executive council of the Anglican Church of Canada.

The Okanagan Similkameen Parks Society was first organized six years ago to protect the California Big Horn Sheep in the Vaseux Lake area by obtaining winter range land and its most recent achievement was having Okanagan Mountain declared a provincial park.

The OSPS is the western affiliate of the Nature Conservancy of Canada, a national organization set up to purchase land

Assessment Appeal Board Would Eliminate Waiting

An assessment appeal board may be in the offing for the interior of the province sources close to the B.C. Assessors Association said Tuesday.

Present facilities for appeal on assessment have been described as inadequate by Penitentiary city assessor Sid Cornock. He said great delays in action under the present system have spurred a decision from the B.C. Assessors Association to press for a separate appeal board for the interior.

A proposal put before the Okanagan assessors was passed and it will be placed before the provincial meeting to be held in Kamloops in September.

The proposal for a separate appeal board in the interior has also been sent to several government agencies including the department of finance headed by the premier.

Assessors in the valley also hope to have the proposal placed before the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities which will run just after the September meeting of assessors. Mr. Cornock said neither the municipality or the taxpayer is being adequately served by the present set-up which he said, "takes too long and is too detailed."

Leslie Hilton, long time cashier for Canadian National Railways in Kelowna, retires this week after 46 years of service with CN. Mr. Hilton started with the railway in 1927 in Kamloops and served in various capacities at Kamloops, Saskatoon, Prince Rupert and finally Kelowna. He was appointed cashier for CN here in 1951. While here he also acted as agent for CN when the regular cashier was not available or on holidays.

Reports from city hall indicate an "unusual" number of applicants are being considered for the post of Kelowna Airport manager. The vacancy was left by the resignation of former manager Eric Davison in July. The applicants and their qualifications will first be screened by senior city hall officials with the most likely prospects then turned over to the personnel committee of council for further consideration.

The medical director for the South Okanagan Health Unit, Dr. David Clarke, said today there were five cases of reported "sleeping sickness" now under observation at the Kelowna General Hospital. The disease, Dr. Clarke said, is carried by mosquitoes and cannot be passed on from human to human. He said it was normally found in animals, particularly in horses, but this year humans have contacted the disease. Protective measures are in the offing according to Dr. Clarke.

Sunny skies with a few cloudy periods are predicted by the weatherman for Wednesday, with high temperatures around the 77-degree mark. MEDICAL DIRECTOR TO CHECK SALES OF APRICOT KERNELS

Dr. David Clarke of the South Okanagan Health Unit said today he was going to check all local health food stores which sell the kernels of apricot pits as health food.

The subject of harmful effects from eating the pits of the fruit came to light after two Los Angeles people became sick when eating the pits purchased in a health food store. California public health officials have posted a warning which indicates that health-food faddists could come down with symptoms similar to those caused by cyanide poisoning.

The kernel can be extracted and eaten when the pit is cracked open.

"We just don't know how many kernels will cause the symptoms of cyanide poisoning or death, but there is a possibility of cyanide poisoning from eating a large number of these things," says Dr. Ben Werner of the state department of public health, in California.

Dr. Ralph Weilerstein, the department's public health medical officer, said: "We strongly urge the public to recognize that the apricot pits can cause nerve damage, intestinal upset and ringing in the ears."

Dr. Werner explained that "the same kind of poisoning can result from kernels of lots of different fruits—peaches, plums, even apple seeds."

City And District Schools Open For 13,000 Students

By BOB CAMPBELL
Courier Staff

From Oyama to Peachland, a great collective moan covered the land today as almost 13,000 children in School District 23 (Central Okanagan) headed back to the books.

The shrieks of anguish were offset by an equally stupendous wave of relief from parents freed from the bondage of "summer vacation" and uplifted by the heady prospect of another kind of holiday.

Parental joy is also engendered by an end to school supply and clothes-buying marathons which is inherently all part of the household back-to-school "fun."

But for students attending 43 schools in city and district today, the seemingly bleak prospect of another term is hidden in unexpected personal windfalls. New friends, faces, teachers and a whole new academic scene.

And, for many first-timers, today is the beginning of a new life phase that will continue through high school and possibly college and university. The school population will also be augmented by about 600 new students to the district, a projected figure subject to the altering factor of circumstance, since some pupils may not return to respective schools for varying reasons.

Reflecting the growth of city and district, the school population jumped from 8,039 in 1965 to 12,469 last year, representing 7,725 elementary and 4,744 secondary students. Largest overall increase during the five-year comparison period was in 1970 when student traffic rose to 11,664 from 10,662 in 1969, a jump of 1,002.

A breakdown contained in a 1971 report by district school superintendent, F. J. Orme, shows an elementary school increase from 5,134 in 1966 to 7,725 last year, or 2,591 more students. From a roster of 2,905 in 1966, high school registration finished the 1971 term with 4,764, or a rise of 1,859.

The 1971-72 school year terminated with a teaching staff of about 560 in seven secondary and 36 elementary schools in the district. In spite of an annual teacher turnover of 90, the school board receives from 1,800 to 2,000 applications every term.

Indication Of Area Growth

In a quarter-century of operation, the school district is a statistical testament to the stupendous expansion of the area it serves. From a modest budget of $402,766 25 years ago, operating costs are now a whopping $11 million, with a total assessment of $150 million as of last year. In 1953 assessment was $9 million, reflecting an increase of $141 million in 18 years.

The most significant figure is encompassed in the school district payroll. A quarter-century ago salary outlay was $230,000. This year the payroll will be about $7.5 million.

Proportionately, with growth and expansion of student populations, total holdings in buildings and equipment in the school district is now more than $21 million.

A report by board secretary-treasurer, Fred Macklin, indicated the district had experienced "radical changes" in its population location from the time when Kelowna was accepted as the population centre. Today, districts around the city constitute about 30,500 of the

Another Kelowna rider, Jody Gies, took top honors in the 17-and-under junior aggregate and was awarded the Captain Temple memorial trophy, while the W. R. Cramma trophy went to Mrs. C. D. Osburne of Vernon.

A MOMENTO FROM THE PAST

Kelowna referee Blair Peters will present to the coach of the Russian National Team, the puck used in the game which was played here in 1950 between the Soviets and the Vernon Canadians. Mr. Peters was an official at the game which saw the Soviets trounce the Okanagan Senior Hockey League club by a score of 10 to 2. The presentation will be made in Russia when Mr. Peters will accompany 2,700 other Canadians to watch the second half of the Canada-Russia series. He will leave from Edmonton Sept. 19 and hopes to see the Canadians take at least two of the four games played there.

Inferior Quality Drugs Produced Charges Bell

British Columbia pharmaceutical representatives have come out with a statement that almost one-third of Canadian pharmaceutical companies are producing drugs of such inferior quality that they should be recalled from drug store shelves.

Peter Bell, executive co-ordinator of the B.C. Professional Pharmacists Society said, "It's getting so that prescription drug recalls ordered by the federal government's health protection branch are as common an occurrence as the recalling of defective automobiles."

The society's concern is backed up by the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association, which together with the society, is concerned with alerting doctors and dispensing pharmacists about the dangers of some drugs.

Mr. Bell also said that there are about 300 pharmaceutical houses putting out drugs throughout Canada. He said of these he estimated 200 are reputable outfits.

The task of protecting the public from taking medication that may not alleviate specific symptoms or conditions has been further complicated by new provincial legislation which allows the pharmacist to choose any brand of a particular drug if the prescribing physician doesn't indicate otherwise.

The only stipulation is that before a pharmacist selects an alternate brand of drug, that drug must be of a lower price than the brand originally prescribed.

Commenting on that point, Leroy Fevang, registrar of the Pharmaceutical Association, said that with all the recent publicity and emphasis on buying drugs by their generic names to save money, the customer insists on cheaper brand names which in fact may not do him any good at all.

He added that it doesn't mean that all lower-priced drugs are inferior, but it does mean that a doctor's or pharmacist's advice should be listened to.

A federal health department spokesman in answering the B.C. comments said the recall of drugs for inferior quality is not a large problem in Canada—and nowhere near comparison with recall of defective automobiles as Mr. Bell stated.

"There's no evidence to support the idea that one-third of Canadian pharmaceutical houses are not reputable," said Dr. A. B. Morrison, assistant deputy minister, health protection branch.

John Dyck, Kelowna pharmacist and newly-elected president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, had the following comments to make:

"If one-third of the companies in Canada are not reputable then that third produces considerably less than 10 per cent of materials marketed in Canada."

"Pharmacists can select drugs by manufacturers with higher reputations for quality and still pass on considerable savings to the public due to competition between the major manufacturers of drug products in Canada."

He also said, "The federal department of health and welfare is strengthening its department for assessing quality of drugs available in Canada."

Mr. Dyck said he was firmly convinced that in spite of government critics the supervisory row is strengthening from month to month.

"The Canadian department of health is probably in its own quiet way, leading the rest of the world in drug quality assurance programs," he said.

He also defined the job of the three groups. The B.C. Professional Pharmacists Society is a voluntary membership organization of B.C. pharmacists.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical Association is the licensing disciplinary body, whose primary object is public protection with respect to pharmaceutical services.

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association is a federation of the regulatory associations of Canada that deals primarily in furthering interests in public services—education and negotiations with allied professions, government and industry.

New Forecasting Plan

The Conference Board in Canada—an independent and non-profit business research organization—is plainly gearing up for a plunge into the controversial field of short-term economic forecasting. Its views will, hopefully, smoke out those of others and lead to the kind of confrontations that make for better decision-making in government and in business, says the Financial Post.

The board's president, Dr. Arthur Smith, is fast packing his staff with economic heavyweights. He has enlisted Charles Carter, who has been the chief statistician at Bell Canada, and Robert Rene de Cotret, a Canadian who was senior staff economist at the Council of Economic Advisers in Washington and, more recently, the adviser on monetary affairs with the Department of Finance in Ottawa. Both men join the board in October, as will Walter Duffett, who was Chief Statistician of Canada.

Smith argues with good reason that "Canada is really an underdeveloped country as far as applied research goes in short-term forecasting." The Economic Council of Canada, when Smith was its chairman, made a strong plea for some new organization in Canada to move into short-term economic forecasting. Now wearing his new hat, Smith appears well on the way to taking his own advice.

One of Duffett's first responsibilities will be to examine the prospects for a quarterly business review aimed at business executives who are decision-makers but do not have an academic background in economics. Also, starting in October, the Board plans to issue a monthly pocket-size pamphlet including the main economic indicators. And there will also be more of the board's regular business outlook seminars held at points across Canada.

Clearly, if the board moves effectively into the short-term forecasting area, some feathers stand to be ruffled. Governments at all levels prefer to publish medium-term and long-term forecasts. This is the safe thing to do because, in effect, these exercises only sketch in broadly the general direction in which the economy is moving or could move.

By contrast, short-term forecasts—such as those in Japan which look ahead for 18 months—spark conflict about what corrective steps should or shouldn't be taken. Until now, this has been left largely to the mandarins of the finance department and the Bank of Canada, and their forecasts are quietly fed into the political machinery of policy making. Now the public can be as well-informed—if Smith, Duffett and colleagues do the job expected of them.

Smith objects to the idea that the board will automatically be in conflict with government. "That isn't our intention. We simply want to make the facts and figures available in a way that intelligent people can understand and appreciate."

But if the board finds that inflation is accelerating, and says so clearly, or that unemployment will reach seven per cent next winter unless the economy gets new stimulus, then both business and government will have another yardstick against which to measure their own assessments.

Payroll Grows In Government

By FARMER TISSINGTON
Ottawa Bureau
of the Kelowna Courier

OTTAWA—Like Topsy, she is still growing. That's a reference to employment in the federal government as latest information from Statistics Canada shows that at the end of 1971, employment in the federal government and in federal government enterprises totalled 401,471. This is an increase of 22,485 from the 37,988 figure at the end of 1970.

With increased staff and higher wages in many categories, the total payroll for the last quarter of 1971 was $851,348,000 compared to $771,273,000 for the final three months of 1970. The payroll figures do not include overtime paid to employees of federal departments and departmental corporations. During the final three months of 1971, overtime payments totalled another $15,764,369. That brings the total federal payroll for the final quarter to $867,112,369.

Other interesting information gleaned from the report includes the fact that the five departments which chalked up the highest amount of overtime in the final quarter were, in order: post office, ministry of transport, national defence, department of the environment and the unemployment insurance commission.

The Christmas mail rush might account for the heavy post office overtime although the largest amount paid out in the three months was paid in November, almost $2 million. The trouble the Unemployment Insurance Commission had with late payments and a general foul-up in handling claims toward the end of the year would add to that staff's overtime hours. But the high overtime payments in the other three are less easy to explain.

ON THE UP AND UP

Consumers and consumers' organizations will continue to complain about the high cost of food in Canada, but there is every indication that this cost is going to continue upward in the future. Even if wholesalers, retailers and processors reduced their cost, as many consumers feel they should, the farmer is far from satisfied with his share of the total food pot.

The cold, hard facts are that in the last 10 years, retail food prices rose in Canada by 27.4 per cent, while the general price index of all goods jumped by 33.4 per cent. Wages have risen much faster than food prices, with the result that Canadians spend less of their pay cheques on food than ever before, despite those $1.69 a pound steaks. Canadians spend a lower percentage of their income on food than any other country, States. Only 19 per cent of the family budget goes for food while in France it is 28 per cent, the United Kingdom 24 per cent and Italy 37 per cent.

While prices farmers receive for their products have risen only 25 per cent, the prices of the things the farmers have to buy has gone up by 60 per cent in the past 20 years.

Latest speculation on the future of Commons' Speaker Lucien Lamoureux is that he will not seek re-election but will be appointed to replace the retiring J. W. Pickersgill as president of the Canadian Transport Commission.

It's an appointment that would make sense because Mr. Lamoureux served for several years as executive assistant to former transport minister Lionel Chevrier before being elected to the Commons himself in 1962.

These figures represent a continuing trend that started several years ago and shows no sign of letting up. New Brunswick is the only province that shows any substantial increase in birth rate, with Newfoundland registering a minor one. All other provinces recorded decreases. At one time Quebec led the country with a high birth rate and large families but its decrease of 10.8 per cent from 1971 and 12.5 per cent from the three year average is the largest decline in any province.

BIRTHS DECLINE

The steady drop in the number of births, despite an even more dramatic increase in the number of marriages, has been attributed to the growing use of the pill, the influence of family planning advice and the frightening warnings about world over-population. It is also an anomaly that birth rates historically decline during periods of highest prosperity.

Our total population grows slowly. It reached 21,830,000 at June 1 this year, up only 261,000 from a year earlier and only 3,247,000 more than 10 years ago.

While some may worry about increased immigration, the point is that the Canadian economy requires a steadily expanding market, both domestic and foreign. We make great efforts to sell more Canadian goods abroad but the domestic market is still the prime one for many of our products and particularly our manufactured goods. If the birth rate continues on its present boggan ride without a corresponding increase in immigration to take up the slack, the economy could find itself in the doldrums in the next few years.

Perhaps it is time we started to look at immigrants, not as competitors for jobs, but rather as valued new consumers of Canadian goods and services.

B.C.'s NDP Election Upset Seen As Causing Little Effect In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Political observers here regard the New Democrat upset victory in the British Columbia provincial election held last week mainly as a protest against the 20-year Social Credit government.

It is expected to have little effect on the federal Liberal government's political plans.

The decisive win by provincial NDP leader Dave Barrett and his party surprised spokesmen for both the federal New Democratic Party and the Conservatives. Liberal party officials were not available as the results became clear.

New Democrat Leader David Lewis said he had not "dared expect so decisive an upset," while Conservative House Leader Gerald Baldwin said his party expected "something like this, but not as much."

Mr. Baldwin said he thought the provincial win might make voters cautious when they cast their ballots federally.

"The anti-socialist bogey is going to bite a lot of people. Many will be casting their lot with us."

A spokesman for Mr. Lewis dismissed Mr. Baldwin's as-essment as "crap," saying the win would give federal New Democrats a psychological lift and probably strengthen support for the party.

Mr. Lewis said he had no doubts that the party "will feel this upswing in the federal election."

"The results confirm what we had sensed for the last few weeks, that there is a real upswing for support of the New Democratic Party."

Before the provincial election there was no general feeling by federal Liberals that the party would fare much better than it did in Wednesday's provincial vote.

The party, generally considered fairly weak provincially, was led by former MP David Anderson, who started the campaign late. He himself was elected along with four other Liberals to maintain the number of seats the party held before the election.

The fact that Mr. Anderson successfully held what the party already had in the province is regarded here as not unsettling to the federal party.

INSURANCE PLEA

Sir: (This is a copy of a letter sent to premier-elect Dave Barrett by M. A. Abraniuk of Kelowna.) Congratulations on your recent political victory in our great province.

I cannot say that I supported your campaign, but I do wish you well in leading the people of British Columbia to an even better society. The election being over, I feel that now we must work together for a better life. Because of this I would like to offer some constructive suggestions.

I am an insurance agent, dealing in life, fire and automobile insurance. Your government will undoubtedly take over the automobile insurance business. With that I do not necessarily disagree. I am in constant contact with the people that will now be your consumers. I will outline to you a proposal that I, and many of my clients feel is worthy of serious consideration. British Columbia is a different province than Saskatchewan or Manitoba and what may be good for them may not necessarily fit into a large urban, concentrated B.C. society.

I have been thinking of this type of plan for five years. Certainly the details cannot be fully explained in one letter but what I propose has some underlying principles.

The government is interested in people. The bodily injury, property damage, uninsured motorist and accident benefit coverages should be sold by government agencies and underwritten by a government company. Actuaries are capable of determining the actual rates necessary for this. These coverages would be sold in two categories:

Primary—Coverage would be afforded by the driver. He would purchase this with his driver's licence and this policy would be the first to pay. This would result in efficient policing of rates as one would pay more or less for his driver's licence in accordance with his record. Coverage would be afforded regardless of what vehicle he may be operating but would give the government the right to subrogate if he operated a vehicle for which he is not licensed. It would result in a very equitable spreading of the rate and would create incentive to maintain a good driving record and operate a vehicle in a proper fashion. There should be no limit (e.g. $50,000) to the amount of dollar coverage and would apply only while operating a vehicle licensed in the province of British Columbia.

Secondary—Because in practice there are times when the driver cannot be determined, a secondary coverage as above, would be sold with licence plates. This would protect the owner against law suit or payment should the vehicle be involved but operated by someone other than the registered owner. It would however, still provide a means of recovery to the injured party. It would also cover use by drivers licensed in another province but not those licensed in British Columbia because they would have primary coverage.

Since the main interest of your party is people and not things, the first two would more adequately protect people on a compulsory basis. It would mean that any person injured by or in a British Columbia auto or driver, could be well looked after and this could be integrated with other government benefits thus keeping costs to a minimum and resulting in fast, efficient service. It would provide in the area it is needed most, at the time of death, disability, hospitalization or injury.

Physical Damage, Optional Coverages—This is protection on things. These I feel can best be handled by private carriers. They could offer a wide variety of coverages to persons who wish to protect their own vehicles against loss or damage by themselves or persons whom they authorize to operate them. Coverages such as emergency road service, comprehensive and specified perils would be left intact. I do propose that under the collision coverage, damage in an accident involving more than one vehicle, the right of recovery or subrogation be granted to private carriers or individuals only when the third party is 100 per cent responsible. In effect, if one contributes to the accident or did not make a reasonable effort to avoid it, he would lose his deductible and his carrier the right to subrogate.

I firmly believe there would be many advantages to the above system. Some of these are:

● Government insurance and other agencies are better equipped and could more economically handle the most urgent needs in an accident. This is of looking after and helping people.

● It would keep the cost of the government and compulsory insurance to a minimum yet offer maximum people protection.

● An individual would have the right to decide if he wanted to protect his own property or not, in accordance with the investment he has in it and the importance it has to him. He could also have a choice as to whom he dealt with, thus being able to seek the competent advice of an agent.

● Many more insurance companies would stay in business in British Columbia. This would prevent a mass exodus of people and money from our province such as occurred in Manitoba.

● Insurance agents, who are people, could stay in business and continue to serve people's needs. This would apply not only to auto insurance but to other lines, such as life and business protection.

● I believe that it could be a model system that would be adopted by other provinces and British Columbia and your party would lead the way.

Mr. Barrett, I believe you are a reasonable and intelligent man, and I would be prepared to discuss my proposals in depth with you. I do hope, for the sake of the people of this province, that you give this matter serious consideration.

Sincerely

MICHAEL A. ABRANIUK

CANADA'S STORY

Nelson Fell In Love With Canadian Girl

By BOB BOWMAN

One of the world's famous romances was between Horatio Nelson and Lady Hamilton. However there was another romance in Nelson's life that is little known. He very nearly married a Canadian girl in Quebec in 1782 when he was the captain of the Royal Navy frigate Albemarle.

Nelson's ship had been defending the Atlantic coast against privateers during the American revolutionary war but went to Quebec for a refit in September. It was a treat for the young sea captain to be in the romantic city during this colorful time of year when the maple leaves are changing to red and gold and he referred to "fair Canada" in letters home.

However, he did not divulge that he had found additional beauty in Mary Simpson, 16-year-old daughter of the provost marshal of the garrison. It is possible that the romance was possible in 1782 when Nelson was "going strong" on Sept. 5, in any case, it continued during the month and Nelson was determined to marry Mary.

Unfortunately, from Canada's point of view, and perhaps Mary's, Nelson's fellow officers felt that marriage to a more or less penniless Canadian girl would be detrimental to his career in the navy and took steps to see that it did not take place. Just how this was done is not clear, but there is a story that the Albemarle was made ready for sea duty sooner than planned and that Nelson was forcibly carried on board.

Then the ship was transferred to duty in European waters and Nelson never got back to Canada, or Mary Simpson, again.

OTHER SEPTEMBER 5 EVENTS:

1534—Cartier arrived in France after first voyage to Canada.

1697—Iberville defeated three English ships in Hudson Bay.

1755—Acadians were told that they would be deported from Nova Scotia.

1836—Beryl Markham, first woman to fly across Atlantic from east to west, landed at Louisville, N.S.

1944—Cornwall, Ont., was damaged by earthquake.

Founded Ontario Labor Leader Found How Kickbacks Explained

TORONTO (CP)—A dozen years ago, Bruno Zannini discovered that Italian construction laborers here did not think much of the Queen.

That started him off as a union organizer. Italian-born Zannini found that bosses, to explain away kickbacks from the unorganized workers, were telling them they had to make weekly contributions to buy the Queen's jewels.

Zannini, wounded in a gunfire ambush in his apartment-house garage on Wednesday, embarked on a campaign of organizing the immigrant laborers that made him the most turbulent figure in recent union history here.

A frustrated operatic tenor, he had a voice that could sway the Italians like no one else. Soon he had organized a laborers' union that battled for higher pay and better safety standards in Metro Toronto's mushrooming chaotic construction industry.

Eventually he lost out in a jurisdictional dispute and had to turn over his Italian workers to the Laborers' International Union. Then he organized a Canadian union for concrete-forming workers, only to get into another bitter jurisdictional fight with the powerful and wealthy United States-based international unions.

In 1970 the Ontario Labor Relations Board ruled that contracts signed by Zannini on behalf of his union were invalid.

Later that year, Dr. Morton Shulman, NDP legislature member for Toronto High Park, charged Zannini's union was a phoney one with Mafia ties. The organizer denied this and challenged Dr. Shulman to repeat the charges outside the legislature, which he did not.

Zannini later became an organizer for the Operative Plasterers International union's catch-all Local 733, but that group folded last fall when the union's international executive cut off support.

Despite the downs in his roller-coaster career—which included a 16-month prison term in the mid-1960s for possession of burglar's tools—the 51-year-old Zannini remains an idol to the Italian workers he originally organized.

Auto Operating Costs In Canada May Be Higher Than Those In U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Automobile operating expenses are probably higher in Canada than in the United States, suggest recent surveys.

The surveys, carried out by a U.S. firm for the Canadian and American automobile associations, compare operating costs of a 1971 Chevrolet Impala in the U.S. with a 1972 Chevelle in Canada.

They show that the variable costs such as gasoline and maintenance are lower for the Impala than for the Chevelle, a smaller car. Fixed costs such as insurance and depreciation were only slightly higher for the Impala.

The surveys by Runzheimer and Co. of Rochester, Wis., use national average cost figures which can be misleading. There are great variations in the expenses of individual motorists.

The U.S. survey was conducted in May, 1971, while the study in Canada was in May this year.

The studies break expenses down into variable costs—gasoline, oil, maintenance, tires—and fixed costs—fire, theft, collision, property damage and liability insurance and licence and registration and depreciation.

Under variable costs, the conclusion is that the U.S. driver pays an average of about 4.25 cents per mile to operate his Impala compared to expenses of 4.75 cents for the Canadian driver. The biggest difference in this category is in the cost of gas and oil—about 34 cents higher in Canada.

Under fixed costs, Runzheimer reported that the U.S.

Stock Market Cranks Up A Bit To Raise Dow Jones 15 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market started last week with two days of declines, then cranked up an advance that sent the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks up about 15 points in three sessions.

The turning point came late Tuesday afternoon, just after Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern gave a major Wall Street address spelling out his latest proposals for economic reform. Whether the speech spurred the turnabout was a matter of dispute. Most brokers said it was just a coincidence.

At the same time, there was a general feeling, as one analyst put it, that McGovern now was "less of an ogre" in Wall Street's eyes than he previously had been.

"At least he didn't propose anything new of a radical nature," said Eldon Grimm of Walston and Co.

During the week, the Dow Jones Industrial average rose 0.69 points to 970.05. The New York Stock Exchange Index of some 1,400 common stocks was up 41 to 61.34.

The price-change index of the American Stock Exchange dipped .04 to 26.67. Standard and Poor's index of 500 common stocks was up .84 to 111.51.

ADVANCES LEAD
Advances outnumbered declines 893 to 840 among 1,926 total issues traded on the NYSE. In one respect, the market was in keeping with the tradition of late August doldrums. Volume was light all week, totalling 59.45 million shares on the NYSE compared with last week's 83.64 million.

"We had pre-holiday volume but not pre-holiday price action," said Robert Sivall of Reynolds Securities. "This development was very encouraging, particularly since it came in the face of increases in the prime rate at the major banks."

The higher prime rates were the main factor cited by analysts for the 4.66-point drop in the Dow the first two days of the week.

When Chase Manhattan had raised its rate to 5½ per cent on Aug. 24, the Dow had plummeted nearly 12 points. As other major banks followed suit, there was a depressing effect on the market, analysts said.

The week's most active NYSE stock was Curtiss-Wright, up six to $54 after General Motors' announcement it may use the Wankel rotary engine in some cars within two years. Curtiss-Wright owns North American rights to the Wankel.

Occidental Petroleum, the second-most-active stock, rose 1½ to $14½. Analysts said investors were attracted by the company's oil and metals ventures in the Soviet Union, and by news that Occidental is selling 22 million barrels in Libyan oil to a Japanese firm.

At the American Exchange, the week's five most active stocks were:

Champion Home Builders, down ¼ to $16½; National General new warrants, down ¼ to $7½; Syntex, down nine to $2; American Israeli Paper, up 2½ to $16½; and National General warrants, up ¼ to $17½.

Britain Appeals To 50 Nations To House Ugandan Asians

LONDON (AP) — Britain has appealed to more than 50 countries, including the United States and India, to help find homes for the 50,000 Asians being expelled from Uganda, government officials said Monday.

Several countries were reported to have made firm offers to help, but most of those replying have said only that they are ready to help in principle, the officials reported.

Messages went to the United States, the Latin American countries, the Commonwealth countries, the member nations of the European Common Market, India, Pakistan and Bangladesh.

Foreign Minister Swaran Singh of India said in New Delhi that India might accept some of the Asians individually, but he ruled out any mass intake of the largely penniless refugees.

Canada already has said it will take some of the Asians, who hold British passports.

Britain recognizes that not all the countries it approached will be able to settle Asians. But the officials stressed that London is anxious to muster as much influence as it can to try to persuade President Idi Amin of Uganda not to go through with the expulsion.

The officials estimated the number of Ugandan Asians who will finally settle in Britain could be as low as 20,000. They stressed that many Asians expressed a preference to live in India or Canada.

Plans have been announced to rebuild a building destroyed Aug. 24 on Highway 97 near Reid's Corner.

Occupied by DeVerne's Distributors and R and S Auction Sales, the building was owned by Carlyle Drywall Ltd. The owners said the site has been cleared of rubble, and the building will be rebuilt. Finished in April, the building was worth about $50,000.

DeVerne's is temporarily at 1030 B. Houghton Rd. R and S expects to be in temporary quarters soon. No damage estimates were available from them.

Seven policemen were injured and taken to hospital. Hospital spokesmen said the policemen suffered cuts and bruises.

The group, about 50 strong, moved toward the Gardens doors minutes before the game was to begin. Police wrestled them to the ground and lined peaceful demonstrators against the Gardens wall.

Those arrested were charged with such offences as resisting arrest and assaulting police.

Earlier, another group, members of the Betar B'nei Trumpeldor youth group, chanted outside the Gardens, demanding the release of Jews who want to leave Russia.

"We don't want this construed as something against their hockey team," said Harry Steinman, "but there is no Russian consulate or office here and they are an official delegation of their country."

That demonstration was orderly.

Pickets Nabbed At Gardens

TORONTO (CP) — Twelve pickets, some of whom had been handing out pamphlets and carrying placards, were arrested Monday when a small group tried to force its way into the Maple Leaf Gardens where the second game of the Canada-Russia hockey series was being played.

Seven policemen were injured and taken to hospital. Hospital spokesmen said the policemen suffered cuts and bruises.

Interior Provincial Exhibition Opens Thursday At Armstrong

VERNON—The 73rd annual Interior Provincial Exhibition will be held at Armstrong Sept. 7 to 9.

The IPE is commonly called the "Armstrong Fair," a designation carried on from earlier days.

The IPE is well supported by exhibitors from the district, but the majority of some 800 individuals who exhibit, come from other Okanagan Valley and interior points.

Association members and directors also reside in many interior districts. The 20 presidents (since 1930 when the organization became a provincial society rather than a local one) lived in Penticton, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon and Armstrong. The current president is Bernard Pow of Vernon area.

An agricultural exhibition, or fair, exists as a continuation of an event dating back to Old Testament time. It is and was the meeting place for the people of the area; a place where they gathered to sell, trade, obtain necessities for the continuation and improvement of their way of life in the coming year, and to enjoy briefly the company of friends and relations who came from outlying points.

The basis of today's agricultural fair is still very much the same; it is the meeting place for people who offer goods and services, for the people who wish to find out who may have provided a better product or improved an established product.

It is the place to find out if your standards compare with those of others, the place to gather new ideas which could be used to improve your work or pleasure.

The comprehensive Agricultural Fair is "a reflection of the way of life and potential for living in its area," thus the changes brought by time influence the scope of exhibits, both competitive and commercial.

As leisure time and recreational opportunity expands, the exhibits in the fair reflect the activities and interests of the majority of the area's residents, a factor which has a tremendous impact upon the visitor. It would be difficult to find another area as compact as B.C.'s south central interior which can offer as wide a range of opportunity for living a good life, with the accessible variety available.

The interior's largest exhibition will give visitors the opportunity to see the full range of the best livestock, field products, homemaking skills produced in the past year.

They will see the latest in the tools of the trades, whether these be for making a living or for enjoying skills and opportunities which abound throughout the area.

There is the opportunity to enjoy the atmosphere of the fair, not duplicated in any other annual event, the blending of sights and sounds that create excitement, interest and pleasure as no other event can do, and which also adds to the mysterious nature of the fair's attractiveness.

Mankind has depended upon the land, it is in the nature of our being to want to retain some connections, thus the apartment dweller in the large city nurtures and protects a potted plant as the only practical connections with the reality of his origins.

Parents teach children nursery rhymes with animal characters, yet it is possible only at an agricultural fair for the majority of people to come in contact with a variety of the animals that contribute to Canadian life.

Many people have had little or no contact with farm animals, yet nearly all can enjoy seeing them at an exhibition, particularly since at that time they are looking at the best and in settings that contribute to their appeal to the eye.

Elsewhere in the fair, spectators can admire the finest in fruit, vegetables and flowers; the handicrafts of the housewife, hobbyist, and melding of cultures with distinctive baking and sewing exhibits.

HITHER and YON

Among the many Kelowna students off to continue their studies is Mary Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sullivan who will study ballet at the Ryerson College at Toronto.

Summer holidaymakers back in town are Mr. and Mrs. Grant Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couves, all of Kelowna. The foursome travelled across the Atlantic for a wonderful trip of sightseeing and visiting. They spent four days at London upon arrival, then over to Belgium, the Netherlands, Germany, Luxembourg and Paris, France.

Back in London they did some more touring taking in all the famous historic sites and traditions. Travelling in a rented automobile the foursome took a leisurely tour through England and Wales and on up to Glasgow where Mr. and Mrs. Davis visited her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.

Richard Walker, and the Couves went on to Edinburgh.

A highlight for Mrs. Davis was visiting the place of her birth at Folk and Norfolk where she also met relatives she had never seen before. The Davis who spent an extra week in the old country stopped off at Calgary and Edmonton enroute home to visit their sons and report that in all their travels, Kelowna looked better than ever.

A recent visitor from Moose Jaw, Sask., was Mrs. Simone Stewart who visited with old friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sweeney of Okanagan Mission.

Back from a wonderful week at Couer d'Alene, Wash., are Mrs. W. J. Sullivan and young sons, Bill, Larry and daughter Lori who enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Sullivan's father and the children's grandfather, J. H. Singleton of Phoenix, Arizona.

Okanagan Lake Is Background For Lovely Garden Wedding

On September 2nd, at 4:30 p.m., Rose Viola Tallis of Burnaby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Barrat, Dundee, Cape Breton Island, and Don Allen Melsted, son of Mrs. L. E. Cantell, were united in marriage by the Rev. John Davidson.

The ceremony was solemnized outdoors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Cantell. The couple were supported by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Padgett, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. They stood under an archway beautifully decorated with flowers, the pine trees and blue waters of the Okanagan Lake as the background.

The bride and her bridesmaid were each attired in full length blue dresses with matching hats. The bride escorted to the altar by L. E. Cantell, carried a cascading bouquet of small white daisies and sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid's flowers were similar. Suitable music added to the impressive occasion.

Weather permitted a sumptuous buffet dinner served on the lawn. The toast to the bride was proposed by J. Milton Padgett who also read several telegrams bringing good wishes.

Guests included Sheri Tallis, daughter of the bride from Burnaby as well as a few close friends from the coast and relatives from Kamloops as well as Kelowna.

The bride and groom will spend a part of their honeymoon in the Kootenays and then return to Cedar Creek before going to reside in Burnaby, B.C.

New Horizons For Retired Still A Few Cloudy Guidelines

Interest in the New Horizons program for retired citizens recently announced by the Department of National Health and Welfare is beginning to quicken.

Although further information on the program which is to be administered in close liaison with provincial and municipal officials as well as retired citizens' organizations, has been received by provincial counselor, Mrs. Phyllis Trenwith, there appears to be some questions unanswered.

The release received by Mrs. Trenwith states that the federal government will provide funds to groups of retired Canadians to carry out projects which reflect their design and desires. The conditions which projects must meet in order to be considered are set out, as follows:

1. The objectives of the project should fall within the overall objectives of the New Horizons Program, which are: to stimulate and support the creative participation of retired Canadians in the mainstream of Canadian life.

—to enable retired Canadians to participate in activities which will utilize their experience both for their own betterment and that of Canadian Society as a whole.

—to enable retired Canadians to define and develop their interests in consultation with others who are retired from the labor force.

—to generally contribute to the betterment of the physical and psychological well-being of older Canadians.

2. Responsibility and control of a project must rest with a group which is formed to organize and carry out a Horizons project. The group should have a membership of at least 10 persons, the majority of whom will be required to be permanently retired from the labor force.

3. The duration of the initial project should not exceed 18 months.

4. The project proposal should indicate that existing activities in the community which serve similar purposes have been taken into account in the development of the project plan.

5. The funds which are requested for particular aspects of a project should be appropriate in relation to the proposed purpose of the expenditure.

6. The project group will naturally be required to maintain a record of revenue and will be subject to the usual financial audit.

7. Project groups will be required to participate in the project assignment and evaluation.

Funds will not be provided through the New Horizons program for any of the following:

1. A project, which is developed by a department or agency of a government, federal, provincial or municipal.

2. A project which is or is intended to be a profit-making enterprise for the individual participants.

3. Wages for individual participants.

4. Capital construction. Mrs. Trenwith is seeking further information such as examples of specific projects which meet with approval, that could be used as a guideline for discussion of projects by senior groups.

ANN LANDERS

Mother Of Six Shares Secret Of Success

Dear Ann Landers: A young neighbor of mine has six children under 12 years of age. I have always admired this young woman for the way in which she handles her growing family. The children get along beautifully. They are co-operative and mannerly. Yesterday, I learned her secret.

She told me she makes it a point to spend at least 10 minutes each day engaged in a personal conversation with each child. This makes them feel "visible". It adds to their self-esteem and reduces the sibling rivalry that most children grow up with. A child doesn't resent a brother or sister who gets parental attention if he gets his share.

Will you please find room in your column for this little nugget, Ann?—Lady Across The Road

Dear Lady: Here's the nugget and my thanks for allowing me to put it in a showcase for other mothers to see. If every mother who reads your letter will make a special effort to act on your suggestion today, I'll bet they'll be astonished at the results.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm probably old enough to be your mother but I am coming to you for advice because you seem to have good judgment.

I am a widow who recently met another nice woman without a husband. We have gone to the movies together, and have had dinner in one another's homes and in restaurants.

The problem is her table manners. They are atrocious. This otherwise genteel woman uses her thumb as a pusher, eats stewed chicken with her hands, drips gravy all over the tablecloth, and frequently uses her forefinger to dislodge food from her dentures. At this point I become nauseated. The last time we dined out I simply did not look at her.

I enjoy this woman's company but I cannot stand her table manners. Should I drop her or tell her how I feel? Or is there a chance that I am excessively critical and intolerant?—New Orleans

Dear N.O.: Tell her. If she resents it and discontinues the friendship you have lost nothing. If you don't tell her, you will soon become so annoyed by her grossness that you will eventually attack her on some other grounds and the friendship will be over.

Rev. J. H. James Conducts Daughter's Marriage Rites

Rev. Joseph H. James of Kelowna, conducted the marriage ceremony uniting in marriage his daughter Marjorie Grace James of Vancouver with Patrick Roy Duncan of Burnaby in First Lutheran Church, Kelowna. Assisting in the double-ring ceremony on Aug. 26 was Rev. F. Wiley of Vancouver. The groom is the son of Mrs. Willa Newman of Burnaby.

Baskets of yellow gladioli and white mums and candelabras decorated the church for the mid-afternoon ceremony during which the bride's brother, Joseph James of Willmore, Kenucky, accompanied by another brother, Donald James, of Seattle, Wash., sang Eternal Life. Trumpeter Mike Angell of Vancouver played the processional and Don Kyle of Kelowna played Amazing Grace on the bagpipes during the recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a lace gown featuring ruffles at the neck, sleeveless and hemline. Her cap of daisies held a full length veil of silk illusion trimmed with tiny daisies to match the headpiece and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Marlin Hall of Kelowna served as matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were: Sharon James, sister, Marie Dupree, Ursula Wetklo, Donna Boyes and Kathy Stewart, all of Vancouver. Junior bridesmaid was Debbie James, another sister of Kelowna, and flower girl was Tammy Salzman of Kamloops. Swinden, New Westminster; Steve Bailey, Coquitlam, Jim Stewart, Vancouver, and Ken James, brother of the bride, Kelowna.

Receiving the guests at the reception at the Rutland Centennial Hall the bride's mother chose a floor-length floral printed gown in pink and blue tones. A white orchid formed her corsage. The groom's mother assisted wearing a baby blue floor-length gown with yellow orchid corsage.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated by her mother. Yellow roses were featured at each corner and the baskets of flowers carried by the attendants also added color to the table. The toast to the bride was proposed by Harold Demery.

Another feature at the reception was a table decorated with dolls wearing gowns identical to the bridal party's gowns. These were dressed by Mrs. Marilyn Salzman, mother of the flower girl.

During dinner guests were entertained with various instrumental and vocal musical numbers. Benediction was sung to the bride and groom as they left, by their sisters, brothers and parents.

Telegrams were read from friends in Holland and Vancouver. Many guests attended from points in the Okanagan and the Coast area of British Columbia as well as Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Washington and Kentucky.

Before leaving for a honeymoon trip to the Oregon coast the bride changed to a navy patterned pant suit with mid-top and white turtle neck sweater. Navy blue shoes and purse and a white gardenia corsage completed the ensemble.

They will make their home at 8750 Osler St., Vancouver.

Double-Ring Ceremony For Anderson-Mackay Rites

A double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Donna Lynn Mackay of Rutland and Duane Edward Anderson of Kelowna on Aug. 27 in the Rutland Seventh-day Adventist Church. Two large baskets of pink and white gladioli and candelabras intertwined with ivy and pink and purple full mums and baby's breath added a special glow to the ceremony conducted by Pastor Raymond Devnich of Regina, Sask.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mackay of Rutland and the groom is the son of Mrs. Nancy Anderson of Kelowna.

Soloist, Robert Kite accompanied by Mrs. Donald Ritchey of Rutland sang He Gave Me You.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an empire styled gown of organza over satin. The bodice featured an illusion yoke overlaid with cut imported French Alencon lace and the skirt was re-embroidered with Alencon lace appliques, which also edged the cathedral length train. She carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses with a few white full mums and baby's breath.

Paprika Loaded With Vitamins Synonymous With Hungarian

By EMILY WILKENS

The Hungarians have a word for it—and that word is paprika. There is something about paprika itself that makes it synonymous with "Hungarian"—fiery, spicy, temperamental. Paprika is essential to the Hungarian cuisine. Not just as a superficial garnish, but an integral element of the food itself—a very special and unique flavor, instantly recognizable.

There is more to the value of paprika. It not only tastes good, it is good for you. Good for the appetite, good for the digestion. People once used paprika plasters for boils and night blindness was alleviated with paprika tea. Hungarian professor Laszlo Cholnoky proved that there is so much carotene in paprika, that even the vitamin A-loaded carrot cannot compete with it. The Hungarian peasant or shepherd could live on bacon, bread and paprika alone and remain perfectly healthy.

This red-ripe green pepper is the richest source of vitamin C. It contains five or six times as much vitamin C as citrus fruit. Paprika is also rich in vitamin P—a vital need for a healthy circulatory system. It also contains the B-complex vitamins. It is perfectly clear that science has not yet exhausted the beneficial possibilities of the paprika.

For beautiful Paprikified recipes, we have only to turn to the Hungarians. With our compliments to them—try these recipes—for compliments to you!

STUFFED CABBAGE

Cook ¼ cup rice in ½ cup water for 10 minutes. Drain. Thoroughly mix one pound lean ground pork and one pound lean ground beef with two chopped onion, one egg, salt, pepper, one tablespoon paprika and the drained rice. Put the stuffing mixture aside.

Core one head of fresh cabbage and cook in enough water to cover for 10 to 15 minutes. Gently take apart the cabbage, leaf by leaf. Cut out heavy veins if any. Put aside.

In a large oval casserole, put two pounds of sauerkraut, one cup tomato juice and ½ pound sliced smoked pork butt. Add enough water to cover. Bring to a boil, then lower heat and cook for five minutes.

Fill cabbage leaves with the stuffing mixture; with well floured hands form rolls. Pinch the ends of the rolls together to seal them. Cut remaining cabbage leaves into fine shreds and add to the casserole.

Make room in the sauerkraut with a wooden spoon, and place the cabbage rolls in it. Cook, covered, over very low heat for one hour. Before serving, pour sour cream over the cabbage, making sure not to break the cabbage leaves.

EASY DOES IT

with WIN PACKER

That eternal and ever with us job of washing dishes wouldn't be such a chore if it weren't for pots and pans, especially greasy fry pans! Here's a help that I have found simplifies the washing up. Sprinkle a small amount of one of the grease dissolving sink cleaners in the greasy skillet as soon as the food is taken from it. By the time you are ready to do the dishes, most of the grease will have dissolved and the pan will simply need washing in sudsy water.

If the grease has been burned on, leave the cleanser with a little water in the pan for an hour or so. The water will evaporate and the cleanser will have loosened the encrusted spots so they flake off and the pan is easily washed.

Orchardists Expect Crops To Hit Record This Year

RUTLAND (CP)—Fruit farmers in the Okanagan Valley expect a good crop this year. John Duncan of British Columbia Tree Fruits said Saturday this should be the biggest season for Bartlett pears since 1964, with 532,000 boxes expected and higher prices. Prices were expected to be firm for an expected peach crop of 639,000 boxes. But the cherry picture was poor, with the 315,000 boxes picked this season the smallest in years.

ISLANDERS WIN
VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Timbermen, captained by Brian Herlihy of Victoria, Monday won the $2,100 first prize in the seven-man, nine-event team relay at the loggers' show at the Pacific National Exhibition. The team's time was six minutes 47.9 seconds.

LOGGER KILLED
CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—RCMP identified a logger killed Friday in an industrial accident as Clifford Wade, 47, of Courtenay.

POWER CUT
QUESNEL (CP)—Electricity to the Quesnel area was cut for three hours Sunday after a fire in a B.C. Hydro substation. The fire was not serious and there were no injuries, authorities said.

PNE ATTENDANCE UP
VANCOUVER (CP)—The Pacific National Exhibition ended Labor Day, with a record attendance of 1,192,737 for the 17-day fair. Mary Dunn, 73, of Vancouver won the $50,000 house in the final prize draw.

DONATION PROPOSED
VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Tom Campbell returned from a month-long vacation in Europe during the weekend, and told a news conference he had several questions for the new NDP government in Victoria. He proposed the government give up a downtown block that the previous government planned as a site for a 55-storey office building and turn it over to the city for a park. The mayor also said he would ask if the city would receive grants for maintenance of provincial highways within the city.

CHAIRMAN ATTACKED
VICTORIA (CP)—Hugh Curtis, MLA-elect for Saanich and the Islands, attacked Dr. Alex Wood, chairman of the Victoria general hospital board, over the weekend following the dismissal of the hospital's administrator, Dr. Embert Van Tilburg. Mr. Curtis said that Dr. Wood was the "single most disruptive factor in that hospital" and added that when Dr. Wood resigns "things can only get better."

Belly Dancers Invade U.S. Right Next To Nixon's Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—A few shakes and a fast shimmy down the street from the White House, Turkish Princess Ayse and the former Fifi LaFemme are teaching Washington, city of movers and shakers, how to wiggle for fun and profit.

In a cosmopolitan capital of the Western world, a model from Las Vegas is running a belly dance school. "Cosmopolitan?—I don't feel Washington is cosmopolitan at all, it's terribly hockey," says Lynn Van DeWalle, mother of eight, who has opened a school for "exotic dance" two blocks from the president's mansion.

Why belly dance? "Well, for one thing," she says, "it can improve your sex life. She explained fully, but an interviewer's notes were illegible at this point.

Who belly dances? "Well, students are doing it to have more fun at parties, housewives are doing it to shed unwanted pounds, girls are doing it to improve their figures, and some men are doing it to get rid of their spare tires," adds Mrs. Van DeWalle.

Eight lessons in "erotic dance," at a fee of $100 a person, "a bargain, an investment," she says, include 24 hours spent shaking along with the princess from Turkey or with the former Fifi from the Follies Bergere and elsewhere.

The former Fifi, a mixture of Cuban and French, is known these days as Lalin, "King Farouk's favorite dancer." She is especially endowed by nature and by a stack of scrapbooks attesting to travels through everyone's favorite dancing capitals wherever they may be.

"I've worked all over," she says, "and beautiful people like exotic dancers—it builds your body, gives you grace, gets you exercised, and keeps you from getting bored."

Two afternoons and two evenings each week, the pupils, no more than 15 to a class, go through their belly dancing practice on the second floor of a downtown office building. During a recent session, 11-month-old Shawn kept a bemused eye on the elders while his mother, Cher DeGrecie, danced nearby.

Nation-Wide Search Alert For Montreal Fire Suspects

MONTREAL (CP)—A nation-wide search continued today for two Montrealers wanted for questioning following a fire at the Blue Bird Club Friday which killed 37 people and injured 63 others.

Marc Boutin, 24, and James O'Brien, 22, are being sought by police, while a third man, Gilles Eccles, 24, is already in custody. A warrant allowing police to hold Eccles was renewed Monday for eight days.

Meanwhile, police are maintaining a 24-hour guard over the remains of the downtown country-music club, to ward off curious spectators.

But police did allow two men to lay a wreath on the doorstep of the club Monday.

Dave Lee, a 25-year-old suburban Lasalle resident, and Don Annett, 19, whose cousin Sandra died in the blaze, laid the flowers against the sooty plywood which seals the club's entrance.

ESCAPE CUT OFF
"This is a reminder, I guess, to everyone who goes by," said Mr. Lee. "This is where 37 people died in a fire on Sept. 2, 1972."

More than 200 patrons scrambled for safety from the second-storey dance area of the club Friday night when a wall of flame swept up the stairs cutting off escape by the main entrance. Ten patrons are still in hospital, three in serious condition.

John MacDougall, Montreal's fire commissioner, said that technically the nightclub met the legal requirement for fire exits.

"But whether the exits were properly lit and unobstructed will be determined at a coroner's inquest later in the week," he said.

Police said many patrons were caught in a mad rush from one exit to another. About two persons were injured when they crowded onto a balcony which collapsed under their weight.

Others jumped or fell from second-storey windows.

THREE THROWN OUT
Lieut. Normand Trudeau of the Montreal police department said three men, known as regulars at the club, had been ordered out Friday night following an argument with the doorman about seating arrangements.

Shortly after the three drove away from the club, three men bought gasoline at a downtown service station he said.

Witnesses told police they later saw three men drive up to the club in a grey Comet, jump out and dump liquid in the stairway leading to the second floor.

The dance hall was licensed for 261 persons while a downstairs bar had a capacity of 281 persons.

SEE OWN PROVINCE

QUEBEC (CP) — The Discover Quebec program, sponsored by Tourbec (Quebec Students Office of Tourism) and the high commissariat on youth, recreation and sports, is encouraging young Quebecers to know their own province better. More than 600 youths have participated in the program since its inception in 1970, and through organized tours and visits have discovered areas of their province with which they were previously unfamiliar.

There was a very fierce wind in Westbank a few nights ago and it blew many of the late peach trees down, ruining the peaches.

The production was originally given 208 performances at the Theatre in the Dell in Toronto. Ottawa will be added to the market area for a cast-recording album which currently is available only in Toronto and Calgary, Warrack's hometown.

New Principal At Peachland

PEACHLAND (Special) — Peachland Elementary School has a new principal and a Grade 6 teacher this year. Principal of both the Peachland Primary and Elementary Schools is no stranger to the community, having taught here two years ago.

Brian Chamberlain of Kelowna was appointed principal and the new teacher, Robert Daniel, will teach Grade 6. He is a recent graduate from the University of Victoria.

In an interview, Mr. Chamberlain stated that only one problem in registration this year is the 46 students in Grade 4. This he said will mean some classes in the Elementary School might be split grades. The Grade 1 class now stands at 19 with overall enrolment standing for both schools at 224. This figure is up one from June. A division on the large Grade 4 will be made after today's school opening.

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec pulp and paper industry employed 29,612 persons in 1970, the Quebec government statistics department says. Pay totaling $251,926,000 was made by 56 factories.

Oxfam Will Offer New Educational Programs

Oxfam-Canada, a private international development agency, is offering a new educational service for church, school and other groups in British Columbia.

It is prepared to assist any group in planning and presenting educational programs on international affairs and development.

"This is our way of saying thanks to the hundreds of people in B.C. who have supported, and still do, Oxfam's projects around the world," said P. K. Sundararajan, western regional director. In the 1971 fiscal year, the people of B.C. donated more than $157,000 to Oxfam.

More and more community organizations are feeling the need for greater understanding of affairs and issues which affect the developing, or "hungry half," of the world, he explained. By offering an educational planning service, Mr. Sundararajan said Oxfam wasn't just publicizing itself.

"We see this as a means of making a genuine contribution to the life and learning of B.C. communities," he said. Oxfam could arrange for resource people to take part in the education program. These people could be from either the private or government sectors.

"The right people are often the secret of a good program, and our office is able to contact many well qualified, authoritative people," said the director.

The sort of program Oxfam might help plan could range from a three-hour evening session on some topic to a weekend, or longer, conference on international development issues in general.

"When you come right down to it, Oxfam can help prepare almost any type of educational program," said Mr. Sundararajan. "Naturally we want any program we participate in to reflect the needs and wishes of the particular group which asked for it."

Any individual or group wishing further information can contact Oxfam at 315-119 W. Pender St., Vancouver.

Trudeau, Stanfield Find Accord

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau and Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield found an area of agreement in Maple Leaf Gardens Monday night.

Both were on hand to cheer Team Canada to its initial victory over the Soviet Union in the international hockey match—and David Lewis, New Democratic Party leader, was also in the city in a day of subdued campaigning for the three leaders before the election campaign begins in earnest next week.

Mr. Trudeau announced last Friday that Canada's next general election will be Oct. 30.

The prime minister and the opposition leader sat a few yards from each other at the game. Mr. Trudeau with his wife Margaret were behind the Russian bench and Mr. Stanfield along with R. Alan Eagleson, president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative party and a director of Team Canada, sat behind the Canadians.

Mr. Lewis was visible at the head of the three-mile long Labor Day parade at the Canadian National Exhibition and later joined Labor Minister Martin O'Connell on the reviewing stand.

None of the three leaders spoke publicly.

Mr. Stanfield donned a Team Canada sweater and whacked a few pucks into the net at the team's practice Monday morning.

Mr. Trudeau visited the CNE for an hour and at one point wore a headset which allowed him to listen to flight instructions for pilots taking part in an air show.

INSURANCE RUN FOR HIS CLUB

New Westminster's Gary Cooke is about to cross home plate with the insurance run in his club's 4-2 victory over Nanaimo Tally-Ho in the final game of the Senior B Men's Championships held in King's Stadium during the weekend.

The New Westminster squad had earlier defeated the Tally-Ho club 3-2 in 11 innings to force the deciding game, and won a total of five games, including four in a row, on Monday, to take the provincial title.

New Westminster B.C. Champs Defeat Nanaimo 4-2 In Final

New Westminster Central Oil Sales won four games in a row Monday, including back to back victories over Nanaimo Tally-Ho, in winning the B.C. Senior B Men's Softball Championships held in King's Stadium during the weekend.

New Westminster beat the Nanaimo club 4-2 in the final game Monday after giving the Tally-Ho team their first setback in the nine-team double knockout tourney, a 3-2 win to force the deciding game.

The provincial champs had to do it the hard way after losing their opening game of the playoffs Saturday night to the Rutland Rovers 5-1, but went on to win two games Sunday and five contests Monday to take the title.

The Budget Boys and the Rovers, the two local teams represented in the playoffs, were eliminated from the competition on Sunday and Monday respectively. Budget won their opening game Saturday with a 10-4 victory over Kamloops LeLand, but were then eliminated Sunday by taking a 3-2 defeat from Prince George and a 2-0 loss to North Vancouver.

The Rovers followed their win on Saturday with a 2-0 victory over Prince George on Sunday to keep them in the winning bracket. The Rutland squad were then eliminated Monday by suffering two straight losses, including a 1-0 decision to Nanaimo Tally-Ho and a 4-1 loss to New Westminster.

In the final won by New Westminster, the Nanaimo club hammered out 11 hits, but were able to collect only two runs as their opponent's defensive play kept runners from advancing. The winners only collected four hits but three of them drove in runs.

Nanaimo struck first in the second inning, picking up a run as first baseman Earle Robinson rapped a single to right field, stole second base and was driven in by Terry Grimm. Tally-Ho picked up another run in the next inning as shortstop Wayne Kennedy smashed a triple into right field and came in to score on a single by Terry Mann.

New Westminster then exploded for three runs in the bottom of the third inning to take a one run lead. Brian Smith drove a double to centre field and was followed by shortstop Ernie Zucconi, who reached first on a walk. Third baseman Gary Cooke then rapped a sharp single to left-centre field to score two runs and tie the game.

Jim Mills, who reached first on a fielder's choice, scored what turned out to be the winning run, when first baseman Gary Wilson hit a long triple into left field. The New Westminster team then added an insurance run in the fifth inning as Cooke, who reached first on a walk, was driven in on a double by centre fielder Paul Mitchell.

Mills picked up the victory for New Westminster before giving way to reliever Lee McGee in the fifth inning. Aside from the 11 hits, the two pitchers gave up one walk and struck out 10 Tally-Ho batters. Ed Litchfield suffered the loss for Nanaimo before getting relieved in the fifth inning by Ed Melanovsky. The two pitchers gave up a total of four hits, three walks and struck out 11 batters.

In the individual awards Rutland Rovers' power hitter Dave Kroschinsky took the hitting title with a .583 average. Right hander McGee, of New Westminster, took the top pitcher trophy as he collected three wins in the tourney. Jim Mills, also of the B.C. champs, took the most valuable player award. Mills pitched two victories for his club, clouted two home runs and when he wasn't pitching played outstanding defensively in left field.

The playoff results: Saturday—Nanaimo Tally-Ho 16, Ladner 0; Budget Boys 10, Kamloops

Leland 4; Victoria 1, Prince George 0; Rutland Rovers 5, New Westminster 1. Sunday's results—Nanaimo 2, North Vancouver 0; Ladner 5, Kamloops 1 (eliminating Kamloops); Prince George 3, Budget Boys 2; New Westminster 2, Victoria 1; North Vancouver 2, Budget Boys 0 (eliminating Budget Boys); New Westminster 11, Ladner 2 (eliminating Ladner); Rutland Rovers 2, Prince George 0. Monday's results—New Westminster 5, North Vancouver 0 (eliminating North Vancouver); Nanaimo 1, Rutland Rovers 0; New Westminster 2, Prince George 1 (eliminating Prince George); New Westminster 4, Rovers 1 (Rovers eliminated); New Westminster 3, Nanaimo 2; New Westminster 4, Nanaimo 2 (giving New Westminster the B.C. title).

EFC McQuay Returns Just In Time To Lead Argos To First Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS — Leon McQuay came back Monday. So did Ian Sunter. McQuay, Toronto's flashy halfback, returned to help the Argonauts to their first Eastern Football Conference win, a 43-21 decision over Montreal Alouettes.

And Sunter, Hamilton Tiger-Cats' rookie place-kicker, came back for a fifth field goal try after missing four in a row to give his club a 17-16 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders on the last play of the game.

Sunter's kick from 42 yards, after missing in the second half from 22, 41, 48 and 52 yards, sent the Rough Riders to their first defeat of the season.

Hamilton's victory evened the Ticks' record at 3-3 and moved them to within two points of Ottawa, who have four wins.

The Alouettes, yet to win at home, are third with four points and Argos are last with two points.

The moody McQuay was missing when the team plane left Toronto Sunday night after he had a flare-up with cornerback Dave Raimy on the practice field Saturday.

"I didn't know he was here until this morning," Argonaut coach Leo Cahill said in Montreal after the win. "Evidently he arrived here late Sunday night but nobody told me about it. I had no idea where he was."

Neither McQuay nor Raimy would talk about the incident. "Talk to somebody else, man, I've got nothing to say," McQuay muttered after he carried the ball 14 times to pile up 129 of the 145 yards the Argonauts picked up on the ground.

McQuay also caught touchdown tosses from quarterback Wally Gahler and backup Jim Chace, who relieved in the fourth quarter.

Cahill said: "There's no question of a suspension. However, we'll discuss the matter between us when we get home."

Gahler, making his second start this season for Toronto, also threw two scoring strikes to Eric Allen and another to Mike Eben as the Argos erased a 14-7 Montreal lead and disappointed 14,594 fans. In Hamilton, a record 34,772 fans had a reason to be apprehensive as Sunter strode into the ball to cap a drive that started on the Hamilton 15 with 1:27 left.

Sunter admitted later he was shaken after missing three attempts in a little over five minutes but "the coach just said 'OK, let's go for the field goal'."

"I'm just glad he had the confidence to give me the chance."

Vancouver Wins Soccer Tourney

Vancouver Labatts defeated Castlegar 2-0 in the final Monday to take the Kelowna Kickers' Invitational Soccer tournament held in City Park oval.

In the B Division Merritt edged Calgary Cougars 2-1 in the final.

Individual honors went to Eddie Hogarth and Steve Griffin, both of the Vancouver Labatts, who won best forward and best defence awards respectively. Fred Molzahn of the Kelowna Kickers took the scoring trophy with six goals, while Frank Malone of Kamloops won the best sportsman trophy.

"I can't find my racket, but I probably still can beat you using this old snow shoe."

WFC Esks Move Into First Place As Roughies Defeat Bombers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS — Edmonton Eskimos took sole possession of first place and there was some minor shuffling in the lower ranks Monday after two Western Football Conference contests.

The Eskimos took advantage of many errors in beating the Stampeders 31-19 at Calgary while Winnipeg, which had been tied for first place, dropped into a second-place tie when it was beaten 32-21 by Saskatchewan Roughriders at Regina.

With 10 points from five wins and one defeat, Edmonton has a two-point edge over Winnipeg and Saskatchewan while Calgary has four points and British Columbia Lions are in the cellar with two.

The Lions get a chance, although it's a slim one, to pick up points Thursday when they meet the Bombers at Winnipeg.

At Calgary Monday, alert plays by light center Tyrone Walls gave Edmonton a 58-yard march downfield, using 15 plays, and George Reed capped the assault with a one-yard plunge for six points.

They went on the scoreboard at 2:36 of the first quarter when Lancaster hit Bobby Thompson with a pass and scored on the first quarter. The rest of the points came on a 48-yard field goal and a convert, all by Jack Abendschan.

Thompson got another touchdown in the second quarter after Gord Barwell had scored one and the Roughriders' score was rounded out by Abendschan's two other converts and a single by Allan Ford.

SCORE TOUCHDOWNS

Quarterback Don Jonas and running backs Mack Herron and Ed Williams got Winnipeg's touchdowns. Jonas and Williams scored theirs on two-yard plunges while Herron's was a sizzling 65-yard run.

Jonas converted all three. Saskatchewan had 24 first downs to Winnipeg's 20, were ahead 225 to 171 in yards rushing. Winnipeg, however, and 204 yards passing to the Roughriders' 157, with 364 yards net offence, Saskatchewan had a four-yard edge.

Herron's touchdown, his 10th of the season, gave him a total of 60 points in the conference's individual scoring race, 17 more than Jonas and Cutler.

Jonas' points are from one touchdown, 19 converts and six field goals while Cutler's are from 18 converts, five field goals and 10 kingles.

of rushing Wilkinson," was Calgary coach Jim Duncan's explanation of the thrashing. "He's a good quarterback, he knows how to pick you."

Stampeders defensive back Larry Robinson said Calgary was looking for long bombs and wasn't ready for Wilkinson's short-range missiles.

Statistically, Edmonton had 19 first downs to Calgary's 18, but they had 428 yards net offence to Calgary's 445.

The Stampeders also had a slim edge rushing and passing, 94 yards on the ground to Edmonton's 64 and 376 yards through the air to Edmonton's 364.

At Regina, the Roughriders gave Winnipeg a lesson in ball control to end the Bombers' four-game winning streak.

Saskatchewan was never threatened seriously and a good example of the way they performed was their fourth touchdown. Quarterback Ron Lancaster put together an 85-yard march downfield, using 15 plays, and George Reed capped the assault with a one-yard plunge for six points.

They went on the scoreboard at 2:36 of the first quarter when Lancaster hit Bobby Thompson with a pass and scored on the first quarter. The rest of the points came on a 48-yard field goal and a convert, all by Jack Abendschan.

Canadians Stunned By Russia But Recover To Even Series

TORONTO (CP) — Team Canada played the waiting game Monday night and reaped the fruits of a costly lesson. "We found out a lot by losing Saturday night," said coach Harry Sinden after the Canadians handed Russia a 4-1 setback at Maple Leaf Gardens to avenge a 7-3 loss at Montreal.

The Canadians, left in the wake of the well-conditioned Soviet players in Game One, made their own breaks Monday and kept the visiting speedsters in check.

Phil Esposito, Yvan Cournoyer, Peter Mahovlich and Frank Mahovlich scored for Team Canada. Alexandre Yakushev broke Team Canada's shutout early in the third period.

The Canadians came through with three third-period goals, the first by Cournoyer while the Soviets were a man short and the second by Peter Mahovlich while the Canadians had a man in the penalty box.

CLOSE TO FORM

"The game Saturday was a conditioner for us and by the third period tonight we seemed to be hitting over the hump," said Phil Esposito. "After two games now we're pretty close to being in condition and this is going to make a big difference."

Three of the four Canadian games will be in Winnipeg Wednesday night, starting at 7 p.m. CDT (8 p.m. EDT), and will be carried nationally on the CTV network.

One of the big differences in the Team Canada performance from the opening game was their decision to keep a close check on the Russians who had been allowed to use their free-wheeling style to advantage in the first meeting.

Sinden did a major reshuffling to add more defensive strength that paid off.

"We played a much closer-checking game and a little more sensible," admitted Sinden at a post-game interview at which members of the Russian coaching staff failed to put in an appearance. "Those were the key factors tonight."

Asked if his game plan called for slowing the play by bouncing the Russians around, a tactic that failed in the first game, Sinden admitted this is what the Canadians had in mind but "we hit them when our turn came instead of trying to manufacture situations."

RUSSIANS LOST POISE

The Soviets' patterned offence continued to frustrate Team Canada early in the game, but under relentless skating and solid checks the visitors finally showed signs of losing their poise in the second period.

Wayne Cashman, goaded by reporters to admit he was playing the policeman's role for Team Canada, replied only: "My job is to play right wing."

Asked what conversation took place between himself and several Russian players during the game, he said: "I don't know what language they were talking in, but they seemed to understand what we said back."

Several of his robust sorties into the Russians' end almost triggered retaliation from the normally passive visitors. Referees Steve Dowling and Frank Larson were kept busy keeping the players apart.

Team Canada took five of the nine penalties, but the Russians were hit hardest when high-scoring Valary Kharlamov was sentenced to 10 minutes in the penalty box for brushing against Dowling while arguing a minor sentence to a teammate.

While he was off the Canadians scored three goals that added up the victory in easy fashion.

TEAM MORE RELAXED

"They were a little more relaxed tonight," Sinden observed. "They were a little wild Saturday but seemed more composed tonight."

The Team Canada coach and general manager said the Canadians learned something of the tactics employed by the Russians Saturday and used them to their own advantage Monday. He wouldn't elaborate.

"We just found out some things Saturday which we thought worked tonight. I don't want to say any more."

He did admit, however, the international system of using two referees rather than one referee and two linesman "hurts them (the referees)."

"They missed a few offside tonight, but that's the two-referee system—they can't position themselves to catch all those things."

The temperature in the Gardens was more attuned to hockey than at the Forum. Temperatures inside the Montreal arena ranged between 80 and 100 degrees while the Gardens was a not-to-humid 65.

The Canadians' ignorance of international protocol in Montreal when they skated off after the game without shaking hands with the Russians, was remedied Monday night.

The better-conditioned Russians took advantage of the sticky weather Saturday to leave the Canadians willing. Kharlamov and Eugeny Zimin each scored twice in that game.

Boris Mikhailov, Vladimir Petrov and Yakushev also tallied for the winners. Phil Esposito, Paul Henderson and Bobby Clarke were the Canadian marksmen.

GOT INSURANCE GOAL

Pete Mahovlich, who shifted around a Russian defenceman for the insurance goal Monday night with team-mate Pat Stapleton in the penalty box, credited positional play and checking with the Canadian victory.

Noting that the Canadians couldn't hope to keep pace after only three weeks together, he said "those guys maintain a terrific pace."

One of the interesting points in the game was Sinden's juggling of lines in an effort to slow down the Soviets' big line of Kharlamov, Alexandre Mal'tsev and Vladimir Vikulov.

There were several heated exchanges in the first period over line changes. Sinden said that the international rules are no different than NHL—the home side gets to make the final change.

Sinden insisted on the final change, he said, to put right winger Ron Ellis on Kharlamov.

Questions For Team Canada

TORONTO (CP) — A Soviet hockey player is asking Team Canada members to answer anonymously a questionnaire he has prepared on the "moral and spiritual qualities" of hockey.

Veteran forward Viacheslav Starshinov said Sunday night the questionnaire is to form part of a philosophy master thesis he is preparing during the current Canada-Russia series being played in "both countries."

"I hope every hockey player I meet in Canada will take part," the 22-year-old Starshinov said through an interpreter. "I am giving a questionnaire, translated into English, to all the Canadians and I hope they will complete it for me before our last game in Moscow."

Among the questions asked is: "To what extent do you think yourself morally responsible before society?"

The questionnaire explains that Russians look on a sportsman as "a moral example for people."

NEW PROGRAMS
SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Cambrin College is teaming up with various professional organizations in launching "co-operative programs" for area residents this fall. Dennis Sanichion, director of continuing education, said that the "co-operative programs" are designed to facilitate entry into various professions as well as to upgrade the status of members of some of these groups.

Leaders Remain On Top In Race For AL Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pennant race in the American League East is so wacky that the four contenders who started play Monday with only one-half game separating them finished the day with you guessed it—one-half game separating them.

Baltimore Orioles split a double-header with New York Yankees, winning 4-3 and then losing 5-2. That dropped the Orioles into a first-place tie with Detroit, which edged Cleveland Indians 2-1.

Boston Red Sox beat Milwaukee Brewers 2-0, but lost the nightcap 6-2 and trails the leaders by one-half game and three percentage points.

The Yankees blew a chance to take over the top spot by blowing a late 3-0 lead in their opener against Baltimore and wound up instead in fourth place, one-half game and four points out.

Oakland Athletics opened up some more ground on Chicago White Sox in the West Division—the Athletics lead by 3½ games—by splitting a 10-5, 1-2 twinbill with California Angels while the White Sox were being swept 2-1, 4-0 by Minnesota Twins.

In Sunday's games it was: Chicago 5 New York 0, Cleveland 4 Minnesota 1, Texas 4 Milwaukee 1, Oakland 3 Detroit 1, California 1 Baltimore 0, and Kansas City at Boston was postponed.

Saturday it was: Detroit 3 Oakland 1, Milwaukee 6 Texas 2, Cleveland 5 Minnesota 3, California 2 Baltimore 0, New York 2 Chicago 1, Boston 5 Kansas City 3.

SOX WIN OPENER

Boston took its opener from Milwaukee as Luis Tiant hurled a five-hitter for his fourth consecutive shutout and Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer. A group of former Red Sox sparked Milwaukee's victory in the nightcap. Syd O'Brien hit a tie-breaking two-run homer, Joe Lahoud also homered, George Scott delivered a run-scoring single and Ken Brett was the winning pitcher.

California pitchers had allowed only five earned runs in nine games but Oakland jumped on Clyde Wright for four runs in the first inning of the opener and added four more in the second on two-run homers by Matty Alou and T. J. Lincecum. Nolan Ryan fired a six-hitter and fanned 11 in the nightcap as the Angels bounced back.

New York's Fritz Peterson blanked Baltimore for six innings in the opener and was staked to a 3-0 lead. But the Orioles erupted suddenly in the seventh on Boog Powell's single, a walk and Andy Etchebarren's second home run of the season.

The Orioles also scored a run in the eighth on Don Baylor's infield single, a wild pitch and Paul Blair's two-out double.

YANKS BOUNCE BACK

The Yankees bounced back to take the nightcap by snapping a tie with three unearned runs in the eighth inning on run-scoring singles by Bobby Murcer, Felipe Alou and John Ellis following an error by first baseman Powell.

Willie Horton paced Detroit's victory with a two-run two-out triple off Gaylord Perry in the sixth inning, again preventing the Cleveland ace from winning his 20th game in his third try.

Meanwhile, Minnesota dealt the White Sox a severe jolt behind the six-hit hurling of Bert Blyleven in the opener and Ray Corbin's five-hitter in the nightcap.

The Twins rallied to take the first game with two runs in the seventh. Rick Renick lashed a pair of run-scoring singles in the nightcap.

John Mayberry and Lou Piniella socked two-run singles for Kansas City to offset home runs by Jim Fahey and Tom Grieve of Texas.

Drug Usage In Olympics

MUNICH (CP) — Two Olympic medals hung in the balance today as the International Olympic Committee had the problem of drug usage by athletes thrown into its lap once more.

Champion swimmer Rick Demont of the United States and Dutch cyclist Aad van den Hoek both showed "positive" reports in urine tests for stimulants and were disqualified for taking "forbidden" preparations.

Demont, 18-year-old freestyler who is an asthmatic, was yanked out of the 1,500-metre freestyle final minutes before the race started Monday night.

For Van den Hoek, it meant that the entire Dutch four-man team in the pursuit road race was affected and their bronze medals withdrawn.

Demont won the 400-metre freestyle gold medal last Friday. Whether he can keep the medal is up to the IOC's executive board, which will also review the cyclist's status.

Strictly following the rules governing use of drugs on its banned list even for asthma, the medical commission announced that Demont was disqualified "because of the use of forbidden preparations."

The commission gave similar reasons for disqualifying the Dutch team that was third in the 100-kilometre team time trial race last Tuesday.

Mark Spitz Strikes Gold Again Takes Seven First Place Medals

By BRUCE LEVETT

Canadian Press Sports Editor

MUNICH (CP) — Athletes who spend four years training to compete at the Olympic Games and never win a medal were shaking their heads at some of the goings-on in Olympic track and field Monday.

Kip Keino, an established distance runner but a novice at the 3,000-metre steeplechase which he ran for the first time four months ago, beat a fellow Kenyan in Olympic record time for the gold medal.

Sixteen-year-old Ulrika Meyfarth of West Germany, in her first year of international competition, equalled the world record as she won the women's high jump.

And 17-year-old Glenda Reiser of Ottawa, who switched from swimming to track 15 months ago and still doesn't know that runners are supposed to take it easy in qualifying heats, forced Ludmila Bragina of Russia to break her own world record in the 1,500 metres and got under the old mark herself.

A sprint double for Valery Borzov with his victory in the 200 metres and a repeat by another Russian, Viktor Saneev, in the triple jump restored decorum to the proceedings and the United States swept the last four events in the swimming competition, all in world record times as Canada collected a pair of bronze medals.

Mark Spitz was helped to an unprecedented seventh gold medal by his team-mates on the U.S. 400-metre medley relay team with the Canadian entry of Erik Fish, Medicine Hat, Alta.; Bill Mahony, New Westminster, B.C.; Bruce Robertson, Vancouver, and Bob Kasting, Lethbridge, Alta., barely missing a silver medal and setting a national record.

Donna Marie Gurr of Vancouver made amends for a disappointing showing in the 100-metre backstroke by finishing third behind two U.S. girls in the 200.

Klaus Dibiasi of Italy joined Saneev as a repeat winner by taking the men's tower diving competition and the favored Russian weightlifters, with only one gold medal to show for the first week of competition, finally captured a second in the heavyweight class.

ITALY SCORES UPSET

Victories in water polo and tandem cycling gave the Soviet Union a total of five for the day but they lost a sixth when Italian fencers took away the team sabre title that had been Russian property in the last two Games.

Japan won its third judo championship in the lightweight division and the team pursuit cycling title went to West Germany.

Keino, who has described the steeplechase as an event for animals and says he jumps like a horse, began honing up on it when he discovered that the schedule prevented him from entering both the 1,500 and 5,000 metres.

Bunched with fellow-Kenyans Ben Jipcho and defending champion Amos Biwott most of the way, he took the lead on the final lap and won comfortably over Jipcho and Tapio Kantanen of Finland. Biwott finished sixth.

The home crowd was delighted when the tall, slender Miss Meyfarth used the Brill Bend to clear six feet 3¼ inches while Hona Gusenbauer of Austria, who originally established the world mark, was second. The originator of the backward bend, Debbie Brill of Haney, B.C., was eighth at 5-11½.

The Russians, who won only the single and double sculls Saturday and nothing at all Sunday, came out of the long weekend with 26 gold medals to 25 for the United States, which led in overall medals, 71 to 69.

In unofficial point standings, based on a 10-5-4-3-2-1 count for the first six final placings, it was 489 for the Americans and 441 for the Russians. Canada stood 18th with 24.

East Germany, which had taken a run at the leaders Saturday with six gold medals, three of them in rowing, fell back with 16 golds, 48 total medals and 343 points.

EATS MATE

It is not unusual for a female praying mantis to eat a male praying mantis.

Jenkins Picks Up 19th Win

Al Oliver's two, three-run homers started Pittsburgh Pirates to a 10-0, 5-1 doubleheader sweep Monday of Philadelphia Phillies.

But after sharing the hero's act with Steve Blass five-hitter in the first game, Oliver took a back seat to Bruce Kison in the second as the baby-faced right-hander completed Pittsburgh's ninth doubleheader sweep this year with a five-hitter.

"You hear so much about our hitters that people forget that we have one of the best pitching staffs in baseball," said Oliver.

Pittsburgh's National League-leading East margin jumped to 13 games after the Labor Day activities. Chicago Cubs, second in the East, lost a game after splitting a doubleheader with New York Mets—winning the first one 2-0 and losing the second 7-2.

The West-leading Cincinnati Reds split a doubleheader with Los Angeles Dodgers and improved their margin to 8½ games. After the Dodgers won the first game 6-5, the Reds came back to win the nightcap 8-4 and move up a half-game on Houston Astros who lost 6-5 to Atlanta Braves.

In the other National League games, Montreal Expos trimmed St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 in the first game of a doubleheader before losing the second, 8-7 and San Diego Padres tripped San Francisco Giants 1-0.

In games Sunday it was Pittsburgh 2 San Francisco 1, Philadelphia 8 Atlanta 0, San Diego 3 Chicago 0, Cincinnati 4 Montreal 3, Los Angeles 6 St. Louis 1.

Louis 3, New York 2 Houston 1.

Saturday it was Chicago 8 San Diego 0, Los Angeles 5 St. Louis 1, Montreal 7 Cincinnati 2, Pittsburgh 6 San Francisco 3, New York 11 Houston 9 and in a doubleheader, Atlanta beat Philadelphia 10-7 in the first game and was shut out 3-0 in the second.

Ferguson Jenkins, bidding for his sixth straight 20-game-winning season, hurled a four-hitter for his 19th victory as Chicago took the opener from New York. The Mets won the second game, featured by Gary Gentry's first victory since July 20.

ERRORS A RECORD

Manny Mota doubled home Bill Russell from second base with two out in the ninth inning to give Los Angeles its first-game triumph. Cincinnati came back with a 12-hit offense in the nightcap led by Tony Perez' two singles and a double. The Dodgers committed seven errors in the second game, a record for the Los Angeles team.

Hank Aaron tied the score with a two-run bases-loaded single in the ninth inning and Felix Millan sent home the winning run with a grounder for Atlanta.

Carl Morton pitched a five-hitter, recording his first shutout since Sept. 1970 as Montreal won the opener from St. Louis. Bill Voss had three hits, his first in the National League to help the Cardinals take the nightcap.

Derrel Thomas hit a home run and Mike Corkins and Gary Ross combined on a five-hitter leading San Diego over San Francisco.

Trevino Wins Playoff Hole To Take $25,000 Prize

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Lee Trevino who has not won a tournament in the United States since May, won the $25,000 first prize Monday in the Greater Hartford open golf tournament in a one-hole playoff with Lee Elder.

Trevino had to drop a 12-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole to get into the playoff with Elder and then sink a 16-footer on the first sudden-death hole to win the $125,000 tournament.

Elder, attempting to score his first four victory and thus become the first black to qualify for the Masters golf tournament, could have won in regulation had his five-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole not hung on the lip.

"You wonder what you have to do to win," said a dejected Elder, who won $14,300.

Trevino's victory pushed his official 1972 winnings to $168,955 to keep him second behind Jack Nicklaus' record $280,482.

Both Elder and Trevino wouldn't have been in a playoff had it not been for the disaster that struck four sonhomers Ralph Johnston on the fourth to the last hole.</

Murderer Denied Wish

BOSTON (AP) — A 19-year-old convicted murderer who had escaped from a hospital last month and wanted to "go home to die," succumbed to acute leukemia Monday.

Peter Yuhus, of Portsmouth, N.H., pleaded guilty in June to second-degree murder in the October, 1971, slaying of John Labanara, 28, an aide to Mayor Kevin White of Boston.

The day after Yuhus pleaded guilty to the charge, which carries a mandatory life sentence, doctors discovered he had leukemia.

He was placed under guard in hospital, but was never sentenced because that would have meant confinement in prison.

After an abortive escape, Yuhus was returned to hospital with his condition continued to deteriorate.

After his return, he wrote Suffolk County Sheriff Thomas Esposito a letter for an escape.

He later told Esposito: "I wanted to go home to die."

Also charged in the Labanara murder was Arnold King, 38, of Portsmouth. He was given a life sentence after being found guilty of first-degree murder.

Pigeon-Toed Child: What Can Be Done

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have just been told that my six-year-old daughter is pigeon-toed. Our pediatrician told my husband that this would mean an appointment with a bone specialist if we liked.

How serious is this defect? Is the treatment long and expensive? Or can it be taken care with corrective shoes? Is it possible that, if we keep reminding her to turn her toes out, she would improve?

We also have a four-year-old who seems to "throw" her foot the same way her sister did at that age. Could this be corrected more easily at an early age?—B.E.D

said, to poor circulation, yet he did not prescribe any medication to help her. Her condition is getting serious and I wonder if nicotine acid would help her.—Mrs. R.W.

Doctors do prescribe nicotinic acid to improve circulation in cases in which it will help. Some cases cannot be helped by it. I am sure the specialist would have told your sister to use it, if he thought it would help her. Some eye problems are slowly progressive and it is impossible to stop the process.

If it will set your mind at ease, ask the doctor whether nicotinic acid would help.

It's not a dangerous condition so far as health is concerned, but it causes an awkward, ungainly gait. Having it corrected is worthwhile for the child as she grows up. After she is grown, there is no easy way of making the correction.

Pigeon-toeing results from the feet turning inward because the feet toe in. Position during sleep can be a factor in some youngsters.

The correction is not rapid, but neither is it expensive except in terms of time and patience. Special shoes, massage, and a reminder to toe out, are a few of the ways.

You would do well to consult a gynecologist, as suggested—see an orthopedist. And since the earlier correction is made the better, I would have him examine the younger girl, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am concerned about an article I read when a female is X-rayed in the vicinity of the ovaries the ovaries should be shielded as the rays could damage the chromosomes.

I am 27 and had my bowel X-rayed once and gallbladder and stomach X-rayed twice in the last six years, and my ovaries were not shielded.

My husband and I would like to start our family now, but am leery and afraid the babies might be normal. Do you think the X-ray could cause damage to our offspring or I worrying needlessly?—M.W.

It is true that heavy doses of X-ray can cause changes—but these are the heavy doses used

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why don't doctors prescribe nicotinic acid to aid circulation? Since it belongs to the vitamin B-complex group, I cannot see how it would be harmful.

My sister suffers from failing eyesight due, the specialist

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Wednesday (SEPT. 6)
Aries (March 21-April 19): It is just possible you've gotten into a spot where you don't know enough, or need highly skilled help. Hasten will not do.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): The temptation is to rush a new idea into use—at some risk. Travel brings good results. Remembering to bring home a pleasing surprise.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Self-control is worth all you invest in. A favorable comment disappears altogether, unless you keep generating it.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Carefully planned travels encounter interesting diversions, require changes. Creative ventures prosper, purely material concerns lag.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Take a break from time to time, reflect on your progress, trying for nothing special. Better influences will shine in due time.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Do things in groups if you must stick to home base. If you have business at a distance, use the opportunity to develop a new view.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Finding a balance between the many ideas and demands of today is difficult but worthwhile—you learn something.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Conditions still encourage vague or wishful thinking. Later hours bring good questions, attention to precise details. Be ready.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Playing it straight is the only path today. Yesterday's turbulence should abate, tomorrow's not yet stirring. Be diligent.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your energy and persuasive ability are up and to be used constructively. Persistence is needed, accept some delay as helpful.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): So many factors are missing you can't judge today's situation well; give people time to find in more of the story.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Opinionless clash, and it may be your task to find common ground, offer conciliation. Your patience with discussions is rewarded.

Nigerian Police And Soldiers Can Shoot Suspect Criminals

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Police and military patrolled the streets of Nigeria's major cities today, authorized to shoot law-breakers in a nationwide crackdown on mob violence.

The patrols followed reports of suspected kidnappers being stoned to death by angry mobs in Lagos, but no violence was reported elsewhere.

No police figures have been released on the number of mob deaths but unofficial counts put the toll at more than 10 in the last six weeks.

The crackdown came a day after a mob of more than 100 men and stabbing a man unconscious in Kaduna, capital of Nigeria's North Central state, and then pouring gasoline over him and lighting it.

The man, Bello Abba, identified himself as an engineering contractor with two children, was reported to have been chased into a Nigeria Airways building with the mob in pursuit shouting accusations of child stealing.

His killing—reported to be the third in Kaduna in one week—followed the pattern of similar reported killings elsewhere.

Some newspaper reports said the kidnappers are spirititing children away for use as slaves or human sacrifices in witchcraft rituals.

The reports said Nigeria's forthcoming currency change from the British system to the decimal system has provoked believers in witchcraft to make sacrifices in the belief the killings will help them profit from the new era, scheduled for January 1973.

School's Out In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Public school teachers in the fourth largest city in the United States went out on strike today, refusing to give up what the school board says is the shortest high school working day in the country.

Affected are 13,000 teachers, 5,000 para-professional union members and 285,000 pupils, who are due to begin classes Thursday.

The teachers were to report for work today.

Bargainers for both sides agreed that the key dispute centres on the board's demand that secondary level teachers extend their work day to five hours, 40 minutes from five hours.

The board, $52 million in debt, has offered raises of $330 a year to the 5,000 city teachers now a top scale, but also has asked that other salaries be frozen and that 485 positions be phased out by adjustments in class size in an effort to save $11 million.

The teachers, in a list of 400 demands, have asked for pay raises averaging 34 per cent on their scale that now ranges from $8,900 for a beginning to $17,000 for a veteran with a PhD.

completed the cross-country tour of events in equitation with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Graham of Calgary, with much success, she is still competing in various horse shows in B.C.

Nanci placed in many events at the Chilliwack Horse Show held in mid-August, emerging with two first-place ribbons, one in Western equitation on Legend Pert Laddie, the other in Open Working Hunter on Grand Idea.

Continuing her success, she took two second-place ribbons in Junior Jumping on Grand Idea and in Anglo-Arab Western Pleasure on Legend Pert Laddie. She also placed second in Open Jumping on Grand Idea.

She placed fourth in English Pleasure with Legend Pert Laddie and obtained third place in Anglo-Arab Show Hack, riding the same horse.

At the PNE Horse Show, she placed third with Legend Pert Laddie in Anglo-Arab Western Pleasure and took fifth place in Green Hunter, first year, with Legend Pert Laddie. She also placed fifth on the same mount in Show Hack.

Incorporation Is The Answer To Better Protection-Attree

Staff Sgt. Ken Attree, of the Kelowna RCMP detachment, has maintained his stand that incorporation is a must if Rutland-area residents want better police protection.

Commenting today on a report in a local weekly newspaper that "criminal activity" was on the increase in Rutland and that recently a 14-year-old boy was allegedly beaten by a gang of youths, Staff Sgt. Attree said two RCMP members are now patrolling the area on a 24-hour basis, "but we can't squeeze it any more."

"We're now providing the maximum protection we can without robbing other areas which deserve just as much protection as Rutland does."

"I still think the best solution is incorporation. Then the people of Rutland can hire as many policemen as they feel are needed to protect their community. Right now it's basically up to the provincial government to hire as many police as they see fit."

"We certainly can't send men there who are being paid by the city of Kelowna."

The newspaper report said residents have become concerned over nightly gatherings of teen-agers at a local drive-in restaurant and the boy who was apparently beaten was chased from the restaurant to a nearby park.

Project Delayed

RUTLAND (Staff) — Changing plans have delayed construction of an addition to Shoppers' Village. However, the completion date is still given as November.

"Everything's moving on schedule now," owner Al Stober of Kelowna said Friday. Plans had to be changed to conform to wishes of tenants.

This is part of a two-stage addition to the centre. It will provide a second bank, enlarged premises for some present tenants and more stores. The second part is planned for next year.
